RATIFICATION IS LITTLE DOUBTED

Approval by French Parliament of Debt Agreement With United States Is Now Considered as Certain

TWO RESERVATIONS TO BE MADE IN PREAMBLE

Clear Majority Approaching One Hundred Is Predicted—Socialists Will Propose New Negotiations

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Prospects of ratification of the Washington debt settlement have been improved during the past few days, it is said in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies, as it is turning on its probable majority.

The strength of the French franc in the past two days is attributed to a change in attitude toward the Mellon-Berenger agreement, and parliamentary prophets now figure on 350 votes in the Chamber for ratification, with reservations in the preamble. This would give a clear majority approaching 100 in favor of the agreement. The Socialists will present a motion to send the accord back to the Government with instructions to reopen negotiations with the United States, but it is thought that they will not be able to muster more than 150 to 200 votes.

According to the present Government programme, the reservations which will be incorporated in the preamble will cover two points: 1. A guarantee against payments in excess of French capacity, and 2. Suspension of payments if they should become impossible without upsetting French exchange.

COLOR SCHEME FOUND USEFUL IN HOSPITAL

Report From St. John's Hospital in Shepherd's Bush Speaks of Excellent Results Obtained

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Adoption of a color scheme for hospitals has made St. John's Hospital in Shepherd's Bush the cheeriest of London hospitals. Officials say that Mr. Walsh's ideas, that cheerful health-giving colors should replace white walls, and red coverlets, has been carried out by them with excellent results. Delicate shades of green, yellow and mauve in the wards, worked out by a color expert, have proved so beneficial that patients leave hospital three days sooner than before the change was made. Their tempers are better, the color influence sleep, and in one case, after placing an insomniac patient into a mauve room, sleep came within an hour, the officials said.

Place of Trial Is Subject of Appeal

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Whether alleged infractions of the Government Liquor Act should be tried in Victoria where it is charged they occurred, is a matter which the Court of Appeal is considering in the appeal of Charles Lynch, convicted at Alton Bay for selling liquor and ordered by Justice of the Peace W. M. Halliday to pay a fine of $300 or go to jail for four months.

Remarkable Invention Alleged in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Joseph W. Saunders, forty, Vancouver inventor, announced today that he had received $100,000 as an initial payment for the Canadian rights to a device through which he believed it would be possible to eliminate ninety-nine per cent of all railway accidents. From a syndicate which proposed to erect a plant here at a cost of $1,500,000.

Sir Alan Cobham To Come to Coast If Flight Is Made

WINNIPEG, Oct. 7.—Sir Alan Cobham, noted British aviator, who is declared to be planning a transatlantic flight, will fly across Canada following his ocean journey, according to information received here today from London. No details of the transatlantic flight were given, but it is understood that Sir Alan will stop off at Winnipeg on his way to Vancouver.

French Aviator May Postpone His Flight Till Next Midsummer

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Paul Taronon, the French aviator, will not attempt to fly across the Atlantic in a biplane monoplane for at least eight months, and possibly longer. Delay in construction of the plane and bad weather is the cause of the postponement of the flight.

KEEN CONTEST FOR REEVE IS EXPECTED

MR. GEORGE F. WATSON ASKED TO RUN AGAIN IN SAANICH ELECTION

Councillor Graham May Also Enter Field—Probable Candidates Total Six

Candidates for reeve in Saanich show a daily increase. To date there are six prospective candidates for the reevehip. The two latest are ex-Reeve George F. Watson and Councillor William Graham.

Both have been approached to contest for the position of chief magistrate. Mr. Watson stated to The Colonist yesterday that he had been asked by many to seek office again, and although considering their requests, had not yet made up his mind. If he did run for the reevehip, it would be on a platform absolutely opposed to improvement taxation, he said.

Mr. Watson was reeve of Saanich for four years, from 1920 to 1923. Prior to that he was a councillor for Ward Three in 1919. For several years he was a trustee on the School Board.

Councillor Graham has received several delegations urging him to continue to represent Ward Two as councillor, and also to run for reeve. Councillor Graham stated to The Colonist yesterday that he had not yet decided as to what course he would take.

In addition to Councillor Graham and Mr. Watson, other possible candidates for reeve are Councillors Stubbs and Crouch and Trustee P. V. Hobbs of the Saanich School Board.

Although Councillor H. O. Kirkham has been asked to run, he declines at the present time to make any statement as to his possible candidature for chief magistrate of the municipality.

Councillor Stubbs and Councillor Crouch are both opposed to improvement taxation. Councillor Stubbs says "that when the figures of the new assessment become known, it will be a surprise to a great many, and the opinion existing heretofore with regard to improvement taxation will be considerably modified." This remark was made after the passing of Ward Four ratification Wednesday evening. Councillor Stubbs explains that the surprise will come mostly to those who are advocating this form of taxation.

"I think the small landowner will have to pay more than he does at the present time. I wish to make it distinctly understood that I am against the taxation of improvement, as I think there are other means of remedying the situation in Saanich."

BEER PARLOR OWNERS DESIRE AMENDMENTS

They Wish to Install Radios and Gramophones and to Serve Light Lunches or Sandwiches

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Vancouver beer parlor owners who will interview the liquor board officials next week seeking amendments to regulations governing premises licensed to sell beer, will ask for drastic changes.

As one proprietor puts it, "We want the privilege of brightening up our places. We would like to install radios, phonographs and other music, and also to serve sandwiches or light lunches. The average man wishes to enjoy his glass of beer among more pleasant environments than is now possible, and while it is in our own interest that we request the amendments, it is also in the interest of the customers to grant them."

Many of the licensees are now proposing a separate portion of the beer parlor premises to be set aside for women with escorts. Unless some concessions are granted, licensees declare that the number of licensees renewed next year will be materially less than at present.

New York Interviewers Have British Parallels

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The keen eyes of British newspapermen proved their ability when Lord and Lady Byng arrived at Southampton from Canada yesterday, and they outwitted the Mayor of Southampton.

MINERS REPEAT FORMER THREAT

Delegates' Conference of Miners' Federation Passes Resolution to Withdraw Safety Men From Mines

GOVERNMENT'S PROPOSAL DECISIVELY REJECTED

Overwhelming Majority Declares Against Returning to Work in Dependence on Suggested Legislation

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The delegate conference of the Miners' Federation today rejected the Government's offer to create a national arbitral tribunal for settlement of the differences between the miners and mine owners, and by an equally large majority voted in favor of the withdrawal of the safety men from the mines.

Thus the thirteenth session of the dispute, temporarily, at least, and the owners and men are left to fight out the struggle between themselves. The delegate conference adopted a resolution rejecting the Government's proposals for a settlement of the strike, after the announcement of a district vote which opposed the proposed 121,000 to 42,000. The South Wales resolution to withdraw safety men was adopted by the delegates, 594,000 to 194,000.

The Government had already made it plain that unless its offer was accepted by the miners it would be withdrawn immediately. The principal feature of the offer was governmental assurance that if the miners returned to work they would be accorded governmental assistance in obtaining a nation-wide agreement, which in one of the important demands of the miners was that the decision of the miners was taken in the face of practical exhaustion of their resources. In addition their position is daily becoming weaker by the withdrawal of the safety men. If put into effect, it is considered likely to cause serious trouble, not only to the mines, but between the strikers and those desiring to return to their jobs.

UNIVERSITY PROPOSES STUDY OF ABORIGINES

Department of Anthropology Approved by Senate—Result of Action of Native Sons

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—The Native Sons of British Columbia, some months ago recommended to the University authorities the establishment of a department of anthropology for the study of the early history of the aborigines of the Province, and in response to this suggestion a committee was appointed to look into the subject. The committee has now reported to the University authorities, and the department of anthropology of the University of British Columbia is to be established.

The establishment of a department of anthropology at the University of British Columbia has now been approved by the senate and an effort is being made to secure the co-operation of Mr. H. A. Smith, of the division of anthropology of the Victoria Memorial Museum, Ottawa, according to a letter written by the Native Sons of British Columbia.

First Woman Flies Over Mont Blanc

GENEVA, Oct. 7.—Lieut. Thoret, who makes aerial trips daily over Mont Blanc from here, dropping goods and food attached to parachutes near the observatory on the summit, recently took as a passenger his young wife, who was the first woman to fly over Mont Blanc.

Thoret prolonged the flight two hours above the principal peaks of the range at the request of his wife, who was delighted with the trip. She said on her return here: "It was like an aerial honeymoon."

It is learned from Friedrichshafen that the Spanish Government has ordered a new Zeppelin airship which will be the biggest ever constructed, capable of flying over Seville, Spain, to Buenos Aires, covering the distance of roughly 10,000 miles within four and a half days. It will cost thirty million peetas. This airship will later attempt a non-stop tour of the world.

Another Zeppelin, the Z127, is almost ready for the Spanish-Argentine service. It is of 105,000 cubic metres volume, 260 metres long, thirty metres wide, and is driven by fifteen tons, and is driven by seven motors of 2,540 horsepower.

Fox Terrier's Owner Must Pay Poultryman

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 7.—Judge F. W. Howay, in County Court today, awarded $443 damages to T. P. Darby, poultryman, of Port Hammond, B.C., who was sued by a fox terrier that killed 151 chickens on Darby's ranch. The court assessed damages at $3 each for 151 chickens, and $1 each for ninety-one under private R.O.P. test by the owner.

Quebec Minister May Leave Political Life

HON. JACOB NICOL

Provincial Treasurer for Quebec, who it is expected, will be appointed very shortly as Judge of the Superior Court.

HON. JACOB NICOL

LEGISLATURE MAY MEET IN DECEMBER

SESSION WOULD BE FORMAL AND WOULD BE FOLLOWED BY ADJOURNMENT

Fall Session Expected to Be Abolished—Business Sessions Will Open After New Year

The Provincial Legislature will likely be called together at about the middle of December, probably on Thursday, December 16, or on the following day. This does not mean, however, that the business of the session will be proceeded with on that date. On the contrary, the House will likely adjourn until some time after the New Year, when the members will resume the transaction of the regular business of the Province.

The understanding when the House prorogued last year was that, in future, the practice of Fall sessions would be done away with and the former plan of meeting early in the year for the transaction of business would be resumed.

In view of the fact that it is necessary for the Legislature to reassemble within a year of the time of prorogation, there is no doubt that the transaction of the regular business of the Province will be resumed.

The advantages of holding the session after the Christmas holidays instead of before them is that the criticism that business is being rushed through will be eliminated. Under the present practice of Fall sessions, it is felt that the House must close time to allow the members to get home for Christmas. In many instances, this has resulted in the rushing of business at the close of the session.

NEW LIEUT.-GOVERNOR IS BROTHER-IN-LAW OF SIR CLIFFORD SIFTON

WINNIPEG, Oct. 7.—Mr. Theodore A. Burrows, brother-in-law of Sir Clifford Sifton, who came West from Ottawa in 1875, is to be appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, succeeding Sir James Aikins, according to a report received from Ottawa today.

Mr. Burrows is a brother-in-law of Sir Clifford Sifton and was associated with him in the early days of the railway, and was subsequently developed into the Canadian Northern system.

ROWNTREE CHOCOLATE TO BE MADE IN CANADA

Celebrated English Manufacturers Will Take Over Canadian Business Next January

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Rowntree's, the celebrated English cocoa and chocolate makers, are to take over January 1 next the Cowan Company, which has been prominent in Canada for a generation as manufacturers in the chocolate business. This announcement was made today by Mr. Arthur Nelson, managing director of the English corporation. Both Rowntree and Cowan products will be turned out.

Mr. Rowntree, the president of the company bearing his name, and Mr. Fryer, another director, have spent some time in Toronto. Mr. Rowntree has left for Vancouver en route for Australia, the Malay Peninsula and the Mediterranean.

Indian Poet Declares Civilization Crumbles

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Rabindranath Tagore, sixty-six-year-old Indian poet and philosopher, who is here on a tour of Europe, is convinced that Western Christian civilization is crumbling. After being received by kings, presidents and dictators of Europe on what he said might be his last tour, Tagore scoffed at the cry of a "yellow peril." There is a peril, he said, only in the sense that Western civilization may commit suicide while the Oriental world survives.

"You Westerners who possess all material wealth are starving spiritually," he said. "You have nothing to believe in. You think you can struggle along with your intellectuality, but you realize war is bad business. There can be no lasting peace, unless you strive to work for the good of all mankind."

MR. BALDWIN TO INTRODUCE BILL

Legislation to Be Introduced Amending Existing Law Relating to Trades Unions, He Announces in Speech

RECENT EVENTS SAID TO MAKE THIS NEEDED

Neither Good Nor Possible to Smash Trade Union System, He Says—Difficulty Is to Reconcile Rights

SCARBOROUGH, Ont., Oct. 7.—Premier Baldwin, addressing a meeting tonight in connection with the Conservative party conference, alluded to Germany's entry into the League of Nations and the ratification of the Locarno pact as a signal triumph for British diplomacy and a great achievement on the part of Sir Austen Chamberlain.

The Prime Minister referred to the differences in Canada as a fair way to solution. Then turning to the industrial troubles, he declared that the general strike and coal strike were largely the inevitable result of tendencies which had appeared in Great Britain before the war.

On the subject of trade union law, Mr. Baldwin said that recent events made it necessary to re-examine the existing statutes. "Colleges of bargaining were still a necessity to society, which needed the trade unions."

"You cannot smash the trade union system," he went on, "and if you could, it would be wrong to do so. The country is greater than the masters of industry or the leaders of trade unions."

"The difficulty we have to solve is to reconcile the rights of men in combination, and the rights of the individual in full relation to the wider community. To the resolution you passed today the Government will give prompt and careful consideration, and as soon as we have completed our examination of the subject we shall prepare a bill and submit it to Parliament."

The resolution referred to declares among other things that the trade union law in its present state deprives the individual worker of political and industrial freedom. It is for specified measures to overcome these things.

The tone of the conference was indicated by the remark of one delegate: "We want our Prime Minister to have just a little more of the lion and a wee bit less of the lamb."

This was an allusion to the fact that Premier Baldwin has constantly paraded his lion's head in connection with dealing drastically with trade union powers, which he regards as a thorny subject. More than once he has related attempts by extremists to bring about a general strike, and such drastic modifications of the trade union laws, and contented himself by promising legislation on milder lines, principally aimed at separating the benefit funds of unions from strike and political funds, and to restrict picketing.

Postmaster-General Addresses Employees

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—"Always remember that the door to the Postmaster-General will never be closed to the employees of the postal service as to complaints or suggestions as to the betterment of the service or your conditions," said Postmaster-General P. J. Veniot, addressing a postal clerks' gathering at the fourteenth annual convention of the Dominion Postal Clerks' Association, which opened here today. The convention will continue until tomorrow.

A resolution was unanimously adopted pledging the entire co-operation of the members of the association with the Department in its efforts to bring about the fullest satisfaction in postal efforts.

Variation Given of Okanagan Lake Story

KELOWNA, Oct. 7.—A brown crocodile body about fifty feet long, and the same diameter as an auto wheel, is the description of the lake "serpent" given by J. M. Thompson, of Peachland, to the crew of the C.P.R. steamer Sicomus this morning while the ship was approaching the Westbank from Kelowna. Others on the boat, including Mr. Cooper, of Summerland, also saw it at the distance of 100 yards. Mr. Manly Byrnes, of Kelowna, who saw it at a distance of sixty yards four weeks ago, agrees with Mr. Thompson on the general description. Both saw the same animal performing, including a gigantic nose dive in the will of water.

Mr. Veniot Thinks Cable Not Subject Before Conference

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—In the opinion of Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, the Pacific cable dispute is not a matter which should be discussed at the Imperial Conference. Premier Mackenzie King is out of town at present, and in his absence Mr. Veniot declined to say anything about the attitude which Canada would assume at the conference if an effort was made to bring up the Pacific cable controversy.

Arrested in Evening For Morning Robbery

PERNIE, B. C., Oct. 7.—Charles Johnson, twenty-one, who claims to have lived in Lethbridge recently, was arrested by Provincial Constable Smith, of Natal, after bringing here this evening, charged with the robbery of Fernie Motor Car Co. and the Fernie Garage, early this morning. More than $1,000 was taken from a safe and a cash drawer. Johnson, when arrested, is said by the police to have had more than $800 in his possession.

REAL BATTLE IS FOUGHT IN CHINA

CANTONESE AND FORCES OF MARSHAL SUN SAID TO BE IN INDISCRIMINATE STRUGGLE

Twenty Thousand Casualties Are Reported as Result of "Fiercest Fighting of Whole War"

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail estimates that there has been 20,000 casualties in the Cantonese army and forces of Sun Chuan-Fang as a consequence of the "fiercest fighting of the whole war," near Kiukiang and around Foyang Lake.

No decisive result was achieved by this fighting according to the correspondent, who adds that the British gunboat Gnat has been ordered to Kiukiang, where there is panic due to fear that the Cantoneses will break through Sun's line and capture the city. Such a possibility as the Cantoneses breaking through, however, he says, appears to be remote.

NEW MINISTER IS TO BE SWORN IN TODAY

Following Appointment of Mr. Hatfield to Ontario, Ralston Arrives in Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Colonel J. L. Ralston, K.C., Halifax, probably will be sworn in today as Minister of National Defence.

Colonel Ralston arrived here early this morning from the Maritime Provinces, and official announcement of his appointment to the King's Cabinet will likely be made. It is understood in the course of a day. It is understood that Colonel Ralston will seek election in the constituency of Shelburne-Yarmouth, where a vacancy now exists through the appointment yesterday of Mr. Paul Hatfield to the Senate. Writs for the by-election in Shelburne-Yarmouth were issued by the chief electoral officer yesterday afternoon. Nominations will be held on November 2 and elections, if necessary, on November 7.

The appointment of Colonel Ralston to the portfolio of National Defence will fill the only remaining vacancy in Premier King's Cabinet as at present constituted. A new portfolio probably will be established some time in the course of the next session, which will give representation to Prince Edward Island, which was represented in the previous King Administration by Hon. J. E. Sinclair, Minister without portfolio.

JUDGE WANTS CONSENT OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Refusing to authorize, without the consent of British Columbia's Attorney-General, the transfer of two prisoners from New Westminster penitentiary to Calgary for preliminary hearing on forgery and other charges, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald today adjourned until Tuesday next an application for that purpose by the Attorney-General of Alberta.

The prisoners are Reginald Garrett and Frederick Barrett, serving six years' terms convictions at Victoria for forgery and other charges, who are in their possession. In addition, Garrett was convicted of negotiating the bogus currency.

They are wanted in Calgary to face charges of forgery of bank notes and to having these in their possession. It was stated that at least fifteen children in the immediate neighborhood were waiting for admission to the Ralston, which, the directors think will be completed and ready for opening within two months. Among the recently received applications is one from a mother in Cochrane, New Ontario, who wants to know if her child could be accepted for treatment. Another is from a mother in Little Saskatchewan town whose child is paralyzed as the result of someone playfully pulling her chair from under her. Her parents have heard such wonderful things about the sun treatment that they hope their little girl can be taken in and given the treatment.

The value of the publicity which would be derived from an exhibition among the British Columbia Women's Institutes of the Ralston "transplantation" has caused the committee to consider sending someone over to the mainland with this interesting model, which gives an excellent idea of the institution.

TRAGIC DRAMA IS ENACTED THERE

Half Million People Said to Be Pinned Up in Wuchang Facing Death by Starvation and Artillery Fire

DESPERATE GARRISON MUST HOLD ON TO END

Cantoneses Besiegers Refuse to Grant Terms of Surrender—Rescue Troops Only Few Miles Away

HANKOW, Oct. 7.—Pinned up more than a month by the Cantoneses armies besieging Wuchang, a half million Chinese people face death by starvation, cold and gunfire. Large numbers of dead lie in the streets. Those remaining have eaten dogs, cats, and rats, and dropping in shallow places, or dying miserably in shelters into which they have crawled.

The Northern troops of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, garrisoning the city, having been refused terms of surrender, are holding on desperately, hoping for the arrival of their ally, Sun Chuan-Fang, to break through the Cantoneses cordon. Meanwhile, the relentless and well-fed Cantoneses outside the walls, rest patiently on their arms, having blocked all exits from the city, for the time when they shall enter.

What will happen then is not known. The Cantoneses have notified the defenders that next Sunday they will let loose a general bombardment upon the city of misery, firing from Hangyang Arsenal across the Yangtze River, pouring shells from Paotia Hill and elsewhere in the iron ring, upon the suffering people.

A vestige of mercy has been shown. Beginning last Sunday, women and children of the impoverished classes have been permitted to leave the city, the gates to the river, seeking passage across to Hankow. Thirty-eight thousand have been rescued by boats and taken to Hankow to be cared for. Scenes of horror are witnessed each trip of the boats. In the fighting for places on the boats several hundred have been trampled to death as the Cantoneses broke through, however, he says, appears to be remote.

Only a few hours away are the troops of Sun Chuan-Fang, ruler of the five provinces of Eastern China, trying to thrust aside a Cantoneses who oppose their march to the relief of beleaguered Wu Chang. Seemingly, relief must come to the Wuchang defenders within a few days. Since early in November Wuchang has been infested by the Russianized armies from the southern provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, who are attempting to annex the Central China province of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu to the dominion of the Cantoneses Government.

Hankow, star city of Wuchang, across the broad Yangtze River, recumbent to the southward. Wu Pei-Fu was forced out of Hankow about September 8, and is reported attempting to reorganize his troops in Honan province, north of Wuchang. In this he is being aided by his old lieutenant, Sun Chuan-Fang, now the dictator of China's five eastern provinces.

SOLARIUM COMMITTEE MAY TAKE PART AT FAIR

Part Assigned for Men and Women—Publicity to Be Secured By Amusements Event

A plan to use the Potato Fair, to be held in the memorials November 24, 25, 26 and 27, as a means of advertising and at the same time financially assisting the Solarium for crippled children, was discussed at a meeting of the publicity committee held in the Maple Room, Parliament Buildings, yesterday afternoon.

The proposal was brought to the meeting by Mrs. V. K. Macpherson, and discussion developed the plan to include the serving of luncheons by the Women's Institute, this to represent the Solarium publicity and finances, and "Housey-House" games to represent the men.

Mr. A. Hilmcken presided. Evidence of the interest which the Solarium has excited in various distant parts of the Province, as well as further afield, were given. It was stated that Sir Henry Thornton had sent a contribution of $100 to the fund to show his sympathy in the undertaking. An American woman who had merely heard about the project in a letter from a Victoria friend, sent a generous contribution without any appeal having been made to her.

It was stated that at least fifteen children in the immediate neighborhood were waiting for admission to the Solarium, which, the directors think will be completed and ready for opening within two months. Among the recently received applications is one from a mother in Cochrane, New Ontario, who wants to know if her child could be accepted for treatment. Another is from a mother in Little Saskatchewan town whose child is paralyzed as the result of someone playfully pulling her chair from under her. Her parents have heard such wonderful things about the sun treatment that they hope their little girl can be taken in and given the treatment.

The value of the publicity which would be derived from an exhibition among the British Columbia Women's Institutes of the Solarium "transplantation" has caused the committee to consider sending someone over to the mainland with this interesting model, which gives an excellent idea of the institution.

King of Bulgaria Is Saved by Sudden Whim

RUHARET, Oct. 7.—A sudden whim of King Ferdinand yesterday saved a whole boatload of royalty from possible serious injury or death.

On the royal launch George of Greece, Prince Christopher of Greece, and several of his nephews and a princess of Hohenzollern, King Ferdinand was motor-boating at Braila on the Danube. The king's entourage followed the royal boat in another craft. Acting on the spur of the moment, King Ferdinand decided that he and the members of the royal party would take the boat occupied by his entourage. Hardly had the change been made when the engine on the royal launch exploded, injuring several persons and forcing the others to dive into the water. The king's party hurried to their aid and pulled them to safety.

For over 50 years it has been making sick and ailing women well and strong. (Advt.)

EDUCATIONIST IS SEEING OLD BOYS

DR. JOHN ALISON, OF WATSON'S COLLEGE, NOW MAKING WORLD TRIP
Will Visit Orient, Passing Through This City—Famous Men Are Graduates of School

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—After forty years in various chairs of George Watson's College, Edinburgh, Dr. John Alison is travelling around the world meeting the old boys who have come under his rule and rod. He has to cover most of the world to see them, but he is aided by the tradition of "once a Watsonian always a Watsonian." This has resulted in Watsonian Clubs being organized wherever two or more old Watsonians get together. Montreal has one, and it is delighted with the opportunity it has of honoring Dr. Alison.

During the last twenty-two years Dr. Alison was headmaster at George Watson's College, a school which has 1,300 or more boys in attendance. Last Spring he retired, although quite untouched by age or the cares of his lifetime's work. His trip around the world must have been a long-cherished dream, for he has his library, but he is enjoying himself immensely.

With him is Ryley Orr, M.A., J.P., editor of the "Scottish Daily Express" of the famous old city of Greenock in Scotland. They have been friends since they were to school together.

Dr. Alison and Orr arrived in New York last week and went from there to Hartford, Conn., meeting Watsonians at both places. In Hartford they enjoyed a visit with Dr. Douglas Mackenzie, principal of the Theological Seminary there, another old Watsonian. In this city they met a number of old Watsonian boys. The Montreal club is headed by W. W. Swinden, of the Canadian National Railways.

From here the former principal of Watson and his friend go to Toronto, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver. They sail from the Pacific port for Shanghai, Singapore and other points in the Malay States, Ceylon, Colombo, Madras, Burma, Calcutta. They will probably spend about six weeks in the East, returning from Bombay for Mombasa, East Africa, thence to Nairobi and the Kenya Colony, and from there drift homeward.

Dr. Alison and his friend, of course, have not been here long enough to care to discuss what they have seen, but they did venture the information that dry New York showed them more real drunks than they would see in Edinburgh in the same length of time. They regard prohibitory and temperance laws, however, as a question of expediency rather than as set courses, and were quite interested in learning of the diversity of liquor laws in this country.

CUNNING BEGGARS PREY ON CREDULOUS

Professional "Panhandlers" Have Artful Dodge—Fake Cripple Factory in New York

LONDON (By Mail).—The recent case of an ex-soldier who displayed a piteous but false placard stating that he had been refused pension, clothes and treatment, and was compelled to beg for alms, makes one wonder how many credulous and careless people are daily hoaxed by appeals for help from clever street beggars. London of late has been yielding a golden harvest to these fraudulent "sufferers," writes H. C. in The London Daily Express.

These beggars, when arrested, frequently have large sums of money on them, or they possess bank passbooks showing hundreds of pounds standing to their credit.

Begging, as a profession, pays, but the beggar must be an artist; dress, speech and pose must all be studied, and the beggar must be able to play "the pained hand" or "the paralyzed limb" will be the more effective disguise for him. He often sings hymns in quiet suburban streets.

The existence of a fake cripple factory was recently revealed by a case at a New York police court. Three injured hands and feet can be fixed up, pathetic stories readily made up, and a beggar can be made to look like a broken-down old man, and a broken-down old man can be made to look like a broken-down old man.

Another plan which rarely fails in London is to borrow babies in arms—a baby can be borrowed for sixpence.

PROGRESS RECORDED IN SHEEP INDUSTRY

British Columbia Offers Many Advantages—Large Acres Being Operated in Interior

Nowhere in Canada, the claim is made, is there greater opportunity profitably to enter the sheep industry than in the Province of British Columbia.

Both the topography and climate of the Province are admirably suited to sheep raising, but most important of all is the large and increasing local market, and this will more than take care of vast expansion in this branch of farming.

British Columbia is a very large consumer of mutton, and only a fraction of the Province's consumption is locally produced, with the result that numbers of sheep are imported annually, mainly from the United States.

In 1925 British Columbia possessed 61,224 sheep, which is less than any province in Canada, but it had increased to this number from 49,749 in 1922, which is at a higher rate than in most areas. Last year the Pacific Coast province produced 161,040 pounds of wool, valued at an average of twenty-seven cents a pound.

There are many indications that the ranching of sheep is on the increase in the great interior of British Columbia, and some very large acreages are being operated in this industry. In particular, sheepmen show a tendency to move up from the ranges across the line into the interior, where the comparative economy of wool and mutton production and the general suitability of British Columbia conditions for sheep raising on a large scale.

It is not long since a Washington rancher brought in over three thousand sheep to the Lillooet country, considerably stimulating interest in sheep raising in that area. A company, capitalized at half a million dollars, recently entered the sheep business in the Creston district, securing control of 200,000 acres for that purpose. Two Oregon sheep farmers not long ago brought in eight thousand sheep to the Pemberton range, twenty miles from Kamloops, and propose running up to ten thousand animals. Other large sheep ranch establishments are reported in various parts of the interior.

The livestock commissioner for British Columbia is working energetically for the development of the province's sheep industry and reports that present conditions in the industry are highly satisfactory, the year's lamb crop having averaged 100 per cent even on the isolated ranges. British Columbia sheep are consistently of a high grade and as such are sought for importation into other countries. Several purchases have been made in the province by Russian buyers, a flock of forty-six recently being made up for the Soviet Government. And it is considered that there is every possibility of a permanent trade of some proportions developing.

SIR ALFRED BUTT IS SICK OF CANT

Defends Production of "Rose Marie" at Drury Lane Theatre—Says Art Has No Nationality

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir Alfred Butt, manager of the famous Drury Lane Theatre, at a meeting of Drury Lane stockholders, ridiculed those who deplored his producing the American musical comedy, "Rose Marie," at the theatre, after declaring the gross profits made by the play since last March amounted to nearly £1,000,000.

Sir Alfred described the success of the play as "the romance of 'Rose Marie.'" A dividend of ten per cent and a bonus of two and a half per cent had been declared.

"I know," he said in his address, "there is a small minority which considers it a degradation and degradation that a musical play imported from America should be successfully produced at Drury Lane, but I am rather tickled and proud of all this cant. After all, art has no nationality, and I am satisfied that the moral and mental results of over 2,000,000 people witnessing a production like 'Rose Marie' are far more beneficial from the national viewpoint than the effect produced by many so-called intellectual plays which for their success, depend largely upon sensuality and sensationalism."

Verdicts Are Given in Powell River Cases

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 7.—Sam Rakaw and Joseph Gundry, who were found not guilty by the jury at the sittings before Mr. Justice Gregory on Thursday, were discharged, while John Mullick, Pete Branson and Bill Spanik were found guilty and remanded for sentence. The case was one in which the five accused were charged with retaining stolen goods, chiefly bed clothes, the property of the Powell River Company.

PRINCE RUPERT, Oct. 7.—Capt. David Ritchie, of the fishing vessel "Unnemo," arrived from Massett this afternoon with the body of his father, James Ritchie, who collapsed when the vessel was off the Queen Charlotte Islands in heavy weather, and died later at Massett. Deceased was sixty-seven years old and had lived here since coming from Kinross-shire, Scotland, in 1919.

Ulster's Premier Pictured With Wife and Family

BUSINESS WILL BE STIMULATED

MAYOR PENDRAY STRESSES NEED FOR DEVELOPMENT OF OUTER DOCKS HERE

Tells Rotary Club He Has Faith in Ability of Mr. Roger Pinneo in Present Mission

"I believe that if Victoria's Outer Docks are developed to the fullest extent, it would be the means of stimulating business for this community," Mayor J. Carl Pendray told members of the Victoria Rotary Club, at their weekly luncheon meeting yesterday in the Empress Hotel ballroom during an address on "Industrial Victoria."

Mayor Pendray said that the future industrial development of the city of Victoria depended upon whether or not the citizens took full advantage of its great natural resources, its magnificent climatic conditions and of its fortunate geographical situation.

Stating that Victoria's natural resources and climatic conditions required no introduction to a local audience, the Mayor pointed out that Victoria was geographically placed on a sheltered highway—a highway which leads to all parts of the world. The waters of the West Coast of Vancouver Island were teeming with millions of fish, but he regretted that the products of this great fishing ground were carried right past Victoria's doors, and at a greater cost of transportation, to mainland points.

Need For Cold Storage Plant
We must take advantage of our geographical situation and see that the Port of Victoria gets its full share of this business. We are fortunate indeed that we have in Victoria large ocean docks capable of handling this

SIR James Craig, Ulster Premier; Lady Craig, their daughter Aileen and son Dennis, who have just returned to the Old Country after a two months' tour of Western Canada. Sir James is smoking his famous briar which would be even better known than Stanley Baldwin's pipe if Ulster were as large as England. business, which consists of tremendous quantities of salt fish, fish oil, canned fish and fertilizer. To handle this business it will be necessary to erect a large cold storage plant for fresh fish, large oil tanks to store fish oil for transshipment to Eastern Canada and the United States. These same piers are now equipped with a lumber assembly plant which will make it possible for many of our Island mills to secure a share of this tremendous export business, which was formerly lost to them.

Our geographical situation has made it possible and profitable for the erection of grain elevators in Victoria, which give us many advantages over other ports.

Our climatic conditions make it possible to ship grain via Victoria 245 days a year, while our Eastern competitors are unable to do business for months at a time, as their harbours are all frozen over.

The Mayor said that the fact that Victoria has no harbor dues, or other excessive charges, makes it possible for an importer at the present time to have his goods from overseas shipped to Calgary and Prairie points via Victoria at a saving of over seventy cents per ton of 2,000 pounds less than if shipped via Vancouver.

Powerful Salvage Boat
The speaker stated that the above were only a few of the advantages that the city enjoys. It also has the largest drydock in the British Empire—located at Cowiwall. Also, most powerful salvage boats are ready at a moment's notice to steam out to boats in distress and bring them back to this port for repairs.

"To talk about our many advantages is easy, but to solve these problems is another proposition and is the work of an expert or business man familiar with this class of work, a man who can assemble the facts and figures, which, when placed before large financial institutions, can assure private capital of a reasonable rate of interest on its money invested; a man who can show shipping interests the benefit of making Victoria a point of call; a man who, when he has this information assembled, knows where to go to secure the necessary funds to take advantage of the great opportunities that exist, but have been lying dormant for many years in and around the city of Victoria," he said.

Mayor Pendray declared that he believed that Mr. Roger Pinneo, whom the city has engaged to make a survey of the local port and industrial undertakings, was the right man in the right place. He had every faith in Mr. Pinneo's ability, and felt certain that when his work was completed a great deal of good would have been accomplished. He had assured Mr. Pinneo that he had the wholehearted support of the City Council and citizens of Victoria in his mission, whereas united co-operation would be essential to the success of the survey.

MAKES REPORT ON DAMAGE TO MAIN

B.C. ELECTRIC RAILWAY BLAMED FOR DESTRUCTIVE ACTION ON HILLSIDE WATER PIPE

City Electrician Finds Trouble Is Due to Inadequacy of Return Current System

In a report to the city water committee and its advisory board yesterday, City Electrician M. Hutchison, in supplying information regarding the matter of damages to the water main and service on Hillside Avenue and vicinity, said that recent tests showed that the water main was electro-positive to the car rails, this meaning that electrical energy was flowing from the pipe to the rails and that a slow but steady destructive action was taking place. Tests indicated that conditions were practically the same as existed during tests made in March, 1917.

The question of damage of water mains by electrolysis has engaged the attention of Mr. Hutchison at intervals since the early part of the year 1914. As a result of careful surveys and numerous tests, it has been determined that the primary cause of the trouble experienced in the Hillside district is the inadequacy of the return current system used in connection with the street railway service.

Mr. Hutchison recommended to the water committee yesterday that the B.C. Electric Railway Company be reminded that an unsatisfactory condition still existed in the northeast section of the city, and that the company be requested to remedy it. Efforts to remove the primary cause of the trouble should prove a good investment and make conditions better for all concerned, he said.

"I understand that negotiations are now in progress to determine the amount to be paid by the company to the city as compensation for cost of repairs which have been carried out in the Hillside district. In making adjustment of this matter I would advise that nothing be done which in any way would prejudice the position of the city in the matter of securing further compensation for damages which might at a future time develop," concluded Mr. Hutchison, in his statement.

Members of the water committee and advisory board, dealt with the city electrician's report, but reached no decision as to what future course would be adopted. The matter was left in the hands of City Engineer Preston, who will at a later date submit a report to the water boards.

Temperance Act Violators

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 7.—Resignation of Licence Inspector D. G. Copeland and Provincial Constable Athole White, of Leamington, has followed the latest developments in Attorney-General Nickle's drive against Essex County Temperance Act violators, according to Inspector Loughhead, head of the Ontario police of the liquor enforcement squads in Western Ontario.

Col. Robertson's Tour
Comrade F. A. Robertson presented a voluminous report covering his tour through the Province on behalf of the Returned Soldiers' and Canteen Fund Commissions. The progress of the Canadian Legion in the different centres was sketched and much information given. In thanking Comrade Robertson for his informative report it was suggested that a copy be sent to the Legionary so that comrades in all parts of Canada might learn of British Columbia's achievements in the matter of unity.

Comrade Mayo announced that two comrades, Messrs Lindsay and Evans, had died since the last meeting. A standing vote of condolence to the families was passed. Comrade Gill reported that promises of poultry and joints for Christmas, sufficient to stock a city store, were being received, and that the Ways and Means Committee had made arrangements to dispose of them to the benefit of the comrades and advantage to the association.

Fernie By-Election

FERNIE, Oct. 7.—No official action has been taken by East Kootenay Conservatives in regard to contesting the return of Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Health and D.R.C.R., but inquiries among prominent Conservative workers indicate there is an inclination to oppose the return of the minister.

MINISTER RETURNS HERE AFTER TRIP TO CENTRE OF PROVINCE

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, has returned from a trip made to the central part of British Columbia, where he inspected the progress being made in the agricultural industry. In the Bulkley and Nechako Valleys, Mr. Barrow was greatly impressed with the volume of production.

The farmers of the Bulkley Valley, where the land is admirably adapted for grain growing, will ship seven carloads of wheat to the new elevator erected by the Dominion Government at Prince Rupert.

In the same part of the Province

Mr. Barrow was struck by the production of timothy seed which he said would amount to 250 tons this year and would represent about $50,000 in income to the farmers.

This district is admirably adapted for the growing of timothy and for years several of the farmers have been making a very valuable addition to their incomes from this source. Mr. Barrow was pleased with the progress being made by the co-operative creamery in the Nechako Valley. It was interesting, he said, to know that there was progress being made in this undertaking which had been established through the agency of the Government.

SERIOUS PROBLEMS FACE CANADIANS

MR. E. S. FARR SAYS COUNTRY WILL EMERGE TRIUMPHANT, HOWEVER

Sons of Canada Hear Thoughtful Address on Economic Questions That Confront Nation

The economic situation as it exists in Canada, and the methods of improving conditions in the country were dealt with in an impassioned manner by Mr. E. S. Farr, of the staff of Victoria College, in an address he delivered before the members of the Sons of Canada last evening. The speaker did not gloss over the picture, neither did he paint it as a wholly dark one.

"Canada will emerge triumphant," he said. He alluded to the fact that among the things that made a nation great, Canada had its full share. These were rich natural resources; inherited ability of the people; and the intelligent capacity of the people to adapt themselves to the conditions that existed. Canada was equipped to take full advantage of the resources that existed, and he did not doubt that all would come out right. At the same time he felt that it was a matter that should concern Canadians to ascertain what was needed to bring about a return of stable conditions and make the country more prosperous.

Offers Further Aid

On concluding his address, Mr. Farr offered to lend any further assistance he could at any time to help the members arrive at an intelligent idea of the problems that were facing the citizens of the Dominion.

As a reason for contemplation of the situation that confronted the people of Canada at this time, the speaker said that in Europe the nations were placing their budgets on a sound basis and things were slowly improving.

In Canada, while conditions were improving, there were some complex problems that had to be faced. He reminded the proximity of the wealthiest nation in the world, the United States, added to the complexity of the situation in Canada.

Early in his address he advocated on the part of Canadians, the sinking of any differences between the various sections and between the different classes in an endeavor to do the greatest good for the greatest number. There were some very encouraging indications as to the future. In the year 1925, Canada had, in the Prairie Provinces, produced a wheat crop of 424,000,000 bushels valued at $414,000,000. This year's crop, while not as large, was nevertheless a very large one.

Canada's Farm Products

The value of farm products in Canada in 1925 had been one and a quarter billion dollars. Of this half was exported. The United States, although with a population fourteen times as large as this country, valued its farm products at only twelve billions.

In other lines the production of Canada was very gratifying also. The value of forest products was half a billion dollars; of minerals, a quarter of a billion, the largest in the history of the mining industry, while of manufactured goods the net value was over one and a half billion.

The total trade of Canada had been worth in that year $2,173,000,000. The exports had been about 1,135,000,000. The imports, it was true, had increased, but this was still an advantage in the visible exports of about $392,000,000.

The figures for the year 1926 showed an increase along these lines. There was, however, a less pleasing aspect of the situation in the country, and this was afforded in the matter of taxation as it existed. In 1923, while this was not altogether a fair year to take, the showing was a net production of $2,723,000,000, while the taxation at the same time represented $427,000,000, or about a quarter of the production.

Taxation Retards Production

Taxation, he said, had reached a stage where it could be said that it was retarding the production of the country.

Money was being withdrawn in consequence of the taxation from production, which was not in the best interests of the country.

Taxes, however, had to be levied to meet requirements. The debt of the Dominion in 1925 stood at about two and one-quarter billions of dollars.

The interest alone on this sum was a very substantial amount. In this matter of debt reduction the Dominion was not doing well, and the record of Great Britain or of the United States.

In seeking a solution of the trouble over the debt, Mr. Farr suggested that an increase in population would do much to alter the situation. This was on the principle that by the distribution of the burden upon the shoulders of an increased population there would be a lightening of it. In this connection he outlined the scheme as presented by Sir J. Black, Superintendent of Immigration, which looked for the obtaining of the greatest number that could be assimilated in useful enterprises; the encouragement of diversified farming; the reduction in the rate to be charged for transportation, distributing this among all concerned; and the organization of all the agencies at work.

Immigration Problem

It looked as if it would take a long time to improve conditions according to the figures covering the situation unless some radical change took place. The figures were quoted by the speaker to show that there was a loss of population in the years 1923 and 1924, while in 1925 a stage was reached where there were slightly fewer emigrants than immigrants.

The speaker alluded to another aspect of the situation that was suggested as a means of altering conditions and making for the prosperity of the country. This was by means of either a protective tariff, as some advocated, or by a free trade policy which found sponsors on the other side of the question. Simply enunciating the arguments advanced by either side, the speaker said that he would prefer to leave this matter which had been made a political question to a large extent.

He however was of the opinion that the question of the tariff in Canada was dealt with in too much of a haphazard manner. There had been a vast number of revisions in the last few years. He felt that the matter should be in the hands of experts. This was only reasonable. He would prefer to have the matter of the tariff dealt with by a commission as making for better conditions.

Manufacturing Savings

In the matter of manufacturing, Mr. Farr felt that there might be room in time to come for changes which would make for the benefit of the people generally. At one time the buyers controlled the market. In times of under-production the sellers were in control. In many instances to meet the competition that came in the lines of manufactured goods "high-powered" salesmen, at added costs, had to be employed.

State Control or Merger

It might be that the solution lay in all mass production being placed under the state so as to avoid the excessive distribution which often ate up one-half the price charged. Another alternative in the same direction was manufacture under systems of merger. There were, of these plans, it was suggested, the cost of commodities might be reduced.

Another way in which a saving might be effected was in the co-operation of governments. There were, it was evident, too many forms of government and too many engaged in this branch of service.

Another consolidation that might make for the saving of the money of the people was that with respect to the railway systems of the country.

Happier Outlook

Before concluding, Mr. Farr said that there were happier views to be taken of the situation in the Dominion than those which he had alluded to and which made for the ultimate solving of the difficulties under which the country was now laboring.

In this connection he referred to the rich soil of Canada, its valuable mines, its inexhaustible fisheries and the magnificent timber wealth. Added to this was the inherent common sense of the people in the administration of affairs and their ability to cope with problems that might arise. In view of all this there was every hope that all would come right in the Dominion.

Mr. H. W. Creelman, vice-president of the organization, who presided, expressed the appreciation of the membership for the kindness of the speaker in coming before them as a fellow Canadian and giving them the advantages of his very valuable research work.

DANTE AVENUE NOW POPULAR IN CHICAGO

Monastery in Illinois City Recalls Great Poet—Shrine Moved Because of Crowds

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Dante Avenue, a modest little residence street, suddenly is becoming one of the most widely known places in Chicago.

It is estimated that 600,000 persons have recently thronged there in less than a week. The reason for all this is a Chicago monastery that in a striking manner recalls the great poet Dante himself.

Dante's own answer given to friars questioning him as to what he sought when, in exile, he visited Santa Croce monastery in the Riviera is also given as the key to the presence at times of endless crowds in Dante Avenue, Chicago. Fra Ilario, friar of Santa Croce Monastery, has left the Santa Croce record in these words:

"Moved either by the religion of the place, or by some other feeling, he stood silently contemplating the columns and arches of the cloister. And again I asked him what he wished and whom he sought. Then, slowly turning his head, and looking at the friars and at me, he answered: 'Peace.'

Shrine to St. Therese

The white cloaked friars of the Carmelite monastery in Dante Avenue, Chicago, have no other explanation for the silent crowds that come to Dante Avenue—moved either by the religion of the place or by some other feeling."

It is in this monastery of the Chicago Carmelite friars that some years ago the principal American shrine was established for the recently canonized Carmelite nun, St. Therese of Lisieux, known as the "Little Flower of Jesus." Of late, the increasing crowds of visitors have made necessary a removal of the shrine from the monastery to the neighboring Carmelite Church of St. Clare.

Dante Avenue, where the Chicago Carmelite monastery is situated, was originally known as Star Street. General alphabetical rearrangement of Chicago Street names resulted in the change to Dante Avenue. A singular coincidence is that each of the parts of Dante's masterpiece, the Divina Commedia, ends with the word "stars." The last words of the poem are: "By the love impelled they move they gain in heaven and all the stars."

WOMEN FAVOR HOME ECONOMICS COURSE

Meeting Held Last Evening at Parliament Buildings Submits Proposal to Local Council

A meeting held last evening to consider the part which Victoria would take in the campaign launched by the Provincial Parent-Teachers' Association on behalf of the founding of a chair of home economics in the University of British Columbia, after some discussion lined up the interest for the time being at least, under the aegis of the Victoria Local Council of Women. At their regular meeting next Monday afternoon this body, which represents more than fifty women's organizations in its affiliated societies, will review the matter still further and try to effect some plan of campaign for this part of the province.

Mrs. H. E. Young, who called last night's meeting at the request of Mrs. C. M. Muirhead, of Vancouver, past president of the Provincial Parent-Teachers' Federation, and a member of the provincial campaign committee, explained the object of the foundation, and then invited Miss Cress, president of the Local Council of Women, to take the chair. In the discussion which followed it was apparent that those present represented a group of women entirely sympathetic to the course in home economics which it is proposed to establish in the University of British Columbia. It was felt, however, that a big educational campaign would be required in Victoria and throughout Vancouver Island before any attempt was made to canvass for funds. It was suggested, therefore, that not only the Men's Canadian Club and other service clubs, but some of the women's organizations in the city should be asked to hear speakers on the subject.

"Canada cannot be a great nation unless she has good homes. Divorce is on the increase in Canada. If this kind of thing goes on how long will it be before we have a mongrel race?" said Mrs. Young in pleading the cause of a university home economics course, thought that because of the present lack of a high school course in the subject in this city, Victoria girls would be handicapped in entering the course. It was shown, however, that ordinary matriculation in arts and science courses would be quite sufficient. The King Edward High School, Vancouver, gives a course in home economics.

Those present were Mrs. H. E. Young, Mrs. E. C. Hart, Miss Riddell and Mrs. Farr, representing the University Women's Club; Miss Cress, Mrs. Lucas, the Spanish Health Centre; Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. MacLaurin and Mrs. Crocker, the Women's Institutes; and Miss Isbister, of the Normal School staff.

Human Flies Risk Lives on Huge Chimney

WALKING around a two-foot-wide platform that encircled the top of the 218-foot-high chimney at the end of the Windsor Street Station train platform, Montreal, Henry Heid, of New York, and Richard J. Houshey, of Three Rivers, drew many eyes from neighboring streets and from the windows of the C.P.R. offices. The men had been engaged by the company to repair the bricks, clean the surface and repair the lightning rods on the huge chimney.

The work of getting the platform to the top of the chimney occupied the men for eight days. Every upward movement of the platform was to a height of six feet and at the last minute of completing this work one of the men would be standing on a single plank the rest having been raised to the upper position. This ticklish work was to the onlooker dangerous in the extreme, but the men thought nothing of it.

Asked if he ever suffered from attacks of vertigo, Heid laughed and said he never had. "I feel just as safe up there as I do on the ground." He is a man over sixty years of age and has been doing this kind of work for the last forty years. "I feel right at home on the C.P.R. chimney," he added, "for I built it in 1912." However, he is thinking of quitting in another couple of years, although his nerve is as good as ever it was. He owns a half-section of land in Alberta and it is there that he says he will settle down.

Both men moved with the same ease at the perilous height as though they were walking on the street. At times when hauling a plank upwards, one of them stooped over the edge of the platform looking sheer down the drop of 200 feet. At other times they swung out from the walls of the chimney perched on a tiny cradle. At all times they appeared to have complete mastery of the situation.

Although it took them eight days to hoist the platform to its present position, they gazed freely from the ground on a cradle in slightly less than a minute.

ing the course. It was shown, however, that ordinary matriculation in arts and science courses would be quite sufficient. The King Edward High School, Vancouver, gives a course in home economics.

Those present were Mrs. H. E. Young, Mrs. E. C. Hart, Miss Riddell and Mrs. Farr, representing the University Women's Club; Miss Cress, Mrs. Lucas, the Spanish Health Centre; Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. MacLaurin and Mrs. Crocker, the Women's Institutes; and Miss Isbister, of the Normal School staff.

I.O.D.E. Chapter At Sidney Will Help Nursing Plan

SIDNEY, Oct. 7.—The regular monthly meeting of the I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. Goddard on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance, the regent, Mrs. Goddard, presiding over the meeting. The secretary, Mrs. Rockford, read the minutes, which were adopted as read. Mrs. Goddard then gave the financial statement, which was found satisfactory. The educational secretary, Mrs. Raymond Layard, read various reports and was pleased to be able to state that a nurse has been appointed for the Infants in Stanley. A sub-committee was then formed to take an interest in Indian welfare work, and will consist of Mrs. Raymond Layard, Mrs. Houshey, Mrs. Layard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown.

It was decided that the branch should contribute the money for transportation to school of a young soldier's daughter. The branch will donate to each of the three schools, the North Saanich, Sidney and Deep Cove School, and the Brownies Hall. An I.O.D.E. calendar, a letter was received from E. Livesey, of the ways and means committee of the War Memorial Committee of the Canadian Legion, asking that two members of the I.O.D.E. be present at the next meeting, and Mrs. Spooner and Mrs. C. Layard were chosen to attend this meeting. It was announced that Mrs. Ramsey had retired as Brown (two) of the Brownies, and that Mrs. Spooner had been appointed as the new Brown Owl. A new member was balloted and accepted. It was announced that at the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Layard, Mr. Hebban Gillespie, the regent of the Municipal Chapter, will address the meeting. Mrs. Goddard, assisted by her daughter, Miss Iris Goddard, served a dainty tea.

LONDON TO HARBOR RUSSIAN REFUGEES

Party of 170 Waiting for Years for Permitting to Enter U.S.—Costly for Steamship Companies

LONDON, Oct. 7.—One hundred and seventy Russian refugees in England who have been trying unsuccessfully for two or three years to enter the United States have been given permission by the British Government to settle temporarily in London. The refugees are Russians who were domiciled in America before the war and went to Russia to fight, or people who lost everything in the revolution. When America introduced new quota laws, these refugees, although they had steamship tickets, were forced to remain in England. The steamship companies with whom they had booked passages were compelled to provide for their upkeep until such time as they could take them to America, and this cost them nearly $250,000.

Continued appeals made to the American authorities to allow them to land were without result, so companies appealed to the British Government, which agreed to allow the refugees to settle in London. The refugees, who have been living at Atlantic Hotel, Southampton, are with one exception Jewish. They will be brought to London and some of them will be given a home at a Jewish benevolent institution in Whitechapel, and others will find homes with Jewish families.

All-Black Amateurs Win French Match

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, Oct. 7.—Continuing their winning streak the New Zealand amateur Rugby fifteen, who are now engaged on a tour of the United Kingdom and France, defeated a team drawn from clubs in central France here today by a score of 16 points to 3.

Nothing we can say about Blue Ribbon Tea will actually prove its superiority—a teapot test is necessary for this. However every package carries a money-back guarantee.

Dance for Bride and Groom

The men of the 14th Canadian Scottish Battalion, the Army, Bay Street, was the scene of a most delightful dance, given last evening by Dr. and Mrs. Denton Holmes, in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Merston (nee Marla Farrar). Mrs. Holmes, wearing a model gown of amber-colored georgette trimmed with iridescent sequins, was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Merston, wearing a gown of gold and rose shot tulle. The ballroom was beautifully decorated with masses of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, the windows being hung with gold and yellow Venetian blinds, skilfully made from paper. The long tables in the supper-rooms were arranged with masses of yellow chrysanthemums and hollyhocks, yellow candles in silver holders giving a soft glow to the room. In the centre of the table was a giant ash, made of cloth of silver and finished with an artistic floral bow and diamond buckles. The whole was surmounted by a feathery mass of balloons and golden Ophelia roses. A handsome wedding cake occupied the place of honor on the table, the bride cutting it during the evening. The exquisite decorations were the handwork of Mrs. Charles E. Wilson. Heaton's orchestra played the music, while the supper arrangements were in the hands of Mr. Mann.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. James Beckley, Jr., was complimented on Saturday evening at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beckley, on the occasion of her first wedding anniversary. Dancing took place to music played by Miss D. Beckley. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Beckley, Mr. and Mrs. Caine, Miss Margaret Caine, Mr. and Mrs. Luff, Mr. and Mrs. Trace, Mrs. R. Green, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Paddock, Miss M. Mills, Miss M. Stein, Miss P. Stile, Miss P. McAlpine, Miss K. McLaren, Miss R. Humphreys, Miss R. Watson, Miss A. Nathan, Miss N. Fashion Fancies
By Marie Belmont

Natural colored net with appliques of organdy makes the smart vester collar and cuffs of the bolero frock shown above.

The material is wool crepe in the petunia shade which is showing increased popularity for Fall. The skirt shows a straight back treatment, with all the gathers across the front, and the waist is of material to match the frock.

The hat is of a matching petunia shade in very light weight felt. This real test lies in holding the contemplated dress or material near the face, under the electric light if it is to be used for evening, and by a window if the gown is destined for wear in the daytime. It only takes a minute to make this experiment, and that minute could not be better spent!

of Victoria, district convener of W.I. work and method. The members expressed themselves as unfavorable to the proposed change in the method of conducting the annual conference of Islands Institutes, but were of the opinion that a biennial meeting might meet the requirements of the organization.

The second resolution dealing with delegates attending the annual conference for two consecutive years also met with an unfavorable decision. Mrs. Fryatt will act as official delegate for Garden City Women's Institute, while several members expressed their intention of attending the conference sessions.

Activities for the coming Winter include a series of card parties under the joint convener'ship of Mrs. Nix and Mrs. Wilkinson.

A splendid report of the recent Fall exhibition, held in Marigold Hall, for residents of Ward IV, Saanich, was given by Mrs. Munro, while a most satisfactory financial report was submitted by Mrs. Fryatt.

"I'm not married—yet," she said.

Yanks Snatch Victory In Tenth Inning to Take the Lead Again

Ninth-Inning Rally Brings New York Onto Even Terms With Cardinals—Sherdel's Slow Curves Keep Them Back So Far—Three to Two Score of Game and Also of Series to Date

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—The Yankees snatched victory from the Cards today just as the Red Birds were about to fly away with it. Halted for eight innings by Willie Sherdel and his slow curves, the American League champions rallied to tie the score in the ninth and win in the tenth inning of a game that alternately had another record crowd chilled and thrilled.

It was the fifth game of this spectacular world's series battle, and the Yankees' victory, gained by a score of 3-2, put the New Yorkers in the lead, three to two, as the contesting clubs left tonight to resume the struggle in the Yank Stadium, Saturday.

One more triumph will clinch the world's title for the Yankees, while the Cards face the first time the threat of losing the series. The Yankees' victory was a triumph in itself, for it was the first time since the Cardinals came to a rush at the close.

The Tying Run
Herb Paschal, a pinch hitter, brought over the tying run in the ninth with a Texas leaguer to left, while Tony Lazzeri, the Italian second sacker, scored the winning run in the extra inning with a towering sacrifice fly to Hafee. It was a dramatic finish, but it was gained only by capitalizing every advantage, for Sherdel, although weakening, fought desperately and courageously to hold the 2 to 1 lead which the Cards had gained by bunting hits off Pennock in the fourth and seventh.

Gehrig started the finishing fireworks with a fluky double in the ninth that Hafee took in the sun. Lazzeri, attempting to sacrifice, heat out his tap to Bell and Gehrig raced to third, from where he tallied a moment later on the hit by Paschal, who batted for Dugan.

Sherdel tightened here, getting three put-outs in a row as Severel, Pennock and Combs failed to knock the ball out of the infield, but it was only a full in the tide that turned toward the Yanks.

Mark Koenig, whose erratic fielding had previously proved costly, started the tenth with a rising single to left and went to second on a wild pitch. Sherdel took no chances with Ruth and walked the Babe, but Bob Meusel advanced both base runners with a neat sacrifice bunt and Gehrig was purposely passed to fill the bases.

The Winning Punch
This set the stage for Lazzeri's winning punch. It was the second time the young Italian had come to bat with the bases full. The first time, in the sixth, he whalloped a fly to right that might have gone for a homer but for a base runner who he it back and enabled Southworth to catch it up against the bleacher walls.

This time, Lazzeri took another tough hold and shot a long drive to deep left. Koenig raced across the plate with the winning run after the catch. Gazzella, the next man up, was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases again, but Severel ended the inning by popping to Hornsby. It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Cards, who had come back to put up a stirring battle after being put to rout by Ruth's sensational home-run hitting yesterday. It was disheartening, too, for a crowd which shattered the record for Sportsman's Park for the third day in a row. The attendance was 38,552, and every nook was jammed to the limit.

The crowd was whipped to high pitch through the early part of the game as Sherdel effectively checked the Yank heavy artillery, twirling superbly in the pinches, and continuing his effective work even after suffering a bruised finger on his pitching hand while taking a return throw from his catcher in the sixth inning.

The Yanks' First
It was in this frame that Sherdel yielded the first Yank run to Combs, when Pennock's double, and a single by Koenig, passed to Combs and Gehrig helped to fill the bases, but Sherdel got Lazzeri on the latter's high fly to right after striking out Ruth with two men on the base.

Ruth's big hit was completely silenced by Sherdel's baffling curves. The Babe failed to get the ball out of the infield in three attempts, and was walked on his other two trips to the plate. Pennock yielded only seven hits, four more than he did in his first game, and two less than Sherdel, but the Cards bunched four of their blows to produce their runs. A double by Bottomley that bounced off Koenig's glove in the fourth, followed by L. Bell's single to centre, scored one rally, while a double by Bell, followed by Gehrig, scored another.

Hagen Coming Here
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Walter Hagen, who recently won the Professional Golf Association's championship for the third straight time, will leave Chicago about October 15 for Winnipeg, en route to Vancouver, Victoria, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

After a few days' hunting on the marshes of Lake Manitoba with Frank Carruthers and Spawnee Rawlf, of Winnipeg, he will leave for Vancouver and Victoria, where he will play exhibition matches on the best links of both cities.

Sixth Inning
Yankees—Pennock got a double in left when Hafee made a bad judgment of his fly. Combs up. Pennock was almost caught off second by a quick throw from O'Farrell. Thevenow dropping the ball. O'Farrell got an assist on the play on Pennock. Combs walked. Koenig singled into left and Pennock scored. Combs went to second. Hornsby went to the box and talked to Sherdel. Ruth up. Sherdel broke a slow curve over the plate. Sherdel kicked on the umpire's call of the second strike, claiming "it was a strike." He came in and talked to Umpire Dineen. Ruth went after a wind curve and fanned, and the crowd was in an uproar. He swung for the third strike. Meusel up. O'Farrell's return throw to the pitcher struck Sherdel on one of his pitching fingers. Time was called, and he ran to the bench, where the trainer looked in over Hornsby's hand. Hornsby went to the bench and looked at his finger. After which Hornsby went back to second base. Sherdel went back to the pitching mound, and it was announced that the first finger of his pitching hand had been bruised. Sherdel warmed up again. Meusel fled out to Hafee. Combs up. Gehrig walked to the catch. Gehrig up. Gehrig walked. The bases were now filled. Sherdel kicked again on Combs' ball. Hornsby also came up to the plate, but went back again. Lazzeri fled out to Southworth, who had to back up against the wall to make the catch. A foot further and it would have been a home run. One run, two hits, one error.

Cardinals—Southworth went out to Gehrig unassisted. Hornsby up. Lazzeri made a fine running catch of Hornsby's long drive. Bottomley struck out, swinging for the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old 'Un"

Strange coincidence! We were talking about sea-serpents yesterday and this morning saw a story in the paper concerning a "baby sea-serpent" which turned out to be a lamprey.

A lamprey is a kind of sucker isn't it? Another kind of sucker.

Ignorance of the law, the book will tell us, is no excuse. And yet and yet, we humbly opine that ignorance of the law as to the close season for blue grouse in various parts of this Island might well be an excuse for making a mistake.

What with exceptions and brackets in the poster which "is simply a synopsis for the convenience of the public only," and the terrible wording thereof we doubt if anybody could tell just exactly where 'e are reading said poster.

At any rate, unless we are sadly misinformed, there were diverse and sundry well-known sportsmen who failed to understand that the season had closed in certain districts, such as Jordan River, where they carried on as if it were still open, and under the circumstances and considering the difficulty of reading and understanding the said poster, might the authorities had not the heart to prosecute?—or know it would be useless.

A man wants a geography book and a set of surveying instruments nowadays before he can go shooting and he sure of his ground.

Here's something rather good sent the Old 'Un by a friend. Not being selfish the Old 'Un passes it along to other friends and brother sportsmen:—

Blues? No!
Thick alders and birch, tinted dogwood and pine,
With broken fern and fern their gold-bronze leaves combine,
Oh, such an ideally wild hunting ground;
Though never a single blue-grouse may be found.

But hark overhead, the old sky is all blue;
And patches of flowers, with Fall leaves every hue,
All add to my joy, as I wander all day—
Just happy—and hunting for birds, as I stray.

My "bag" is the sunshine, a brace of tanned cheeks,
A tramp of eight miles, over hills and by creeks,
The sunshine is warm and the maple leaves red,
There's nothing to grouse about—perfect the weather!

I'm happy and hungry and tired—but, not blue,
Though never a blue-grouse has come within view;
The sunshine is warm and the maple leaves red,
And happy this hunter as he turns into bed.

Yankees—Lazzeri popped out to Bell, going after a low curve. Severel

REPORTS SUCCESS IN SCHOOL SPORTS

SECRETARY DEE GIVES COMPREHENSIVE ACCOUNT OF THE YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

Results of Efforts in Many Lines of Athletic Activity Proved Highly Gratifying Throughout

The following annual report of the public school sports has been compiled by J. Dee, the retiring secretary:

"The eight meetings of the association were well attended and marked by the interest shown in this branch of our work.

"The year 1925-'26 was unique in the history of the association in that far greater attention was paid to the development of sport among the mass of children than heretofore and that the methods used in attaining this end were distinct.

"No inter-school leagues were carried on until January, the time up till then being devoted to interclass games, which encouraged practically every child of football or basketball age to take his or her part in sport. In order that inter-school games might not be neglected and because the time for these was necessarily curtailed, a series of knock-out competitions was arranged in football and basketball.

"The following leagues were carried on under this plan:

Various Leagues
"Basketball—Boys' and Girls' senior and junior."
"Football—Boys' senior and junior."

"A regular league in Rugby ran concurrently, with the knock-out games, and was followed by lacrosse and kilted ball.

"The kilted ball games were played by both girls and boys and developed keen competition. Gehrig took exceptionally well with both boys and girls.

"Results in the different leagues were as follows:
Girls' senior basketball, Oakland; girls' junior basketball, Sir James Douglas; boys' senior basketball, Oakland; boys' junior basketball, North Ward; boys' senior football, Oakland; boys' junior football, no decision; boys' Rugby, Boys' Central; boys' lacrosse, Oakland; girls' basketball and kilted ball, Sir James Douglas; boys' baseball and kilted ball, Margaret Jenkins; grass hockey, Victoria West.

"The intermunicipal soccer championship was won this year by a team representative of Oakland, George Jay, Burnside and Sir James Douglas under the management of Mr. McInnes, who deserves congratulation for this signal victory.

"The Empire Day sports were traditional in their success. The time limit was again shortened. The association accepted a plan sponsored by Mr. A. Campbell, and divided the events into two groups, senior and junior, with a cup for each. A splendid trophy for the junior events was presented by Feden Bros. This cup was won by Oakland School, the senior trophy being won by Sir James Douglas.

"In other trophies have been presented this year, one brought by Mr. McConnell, by Spalding's, for boys' kilted ball; medals go with this cup. The other, for boys' junior basketball, was donated by Mr. Bryant.

Final Competition
"The retiring secretary wishes to acknowledge the splendid co-operation of all, particularly for the patience shown in accepting his arrangements and meeting his requests for referees during the knock-out competitions.

"Thanks are due to Mr. McInnes, who assumed charge of the Rugby league; Mr. Wilson, who directed grass hockey, thus relieving the secretary of a great deal of effort; Mr. H. Campbell and Mr. John Gough, for their assistance in drafting leagues and preparing copies of schedules.

"The life charge of programmes for May sports was undertaken by Mr. John Gough, who was most successful, both in the programmes and in their successful financing.

"In conclusion, the secretary wishes to thank Mr. Gilliland and Mr. Knott, who at all times stood ready to help with their invaluable advice as past secretaries."

Interesting Programme of Football for Tomorrow

Changes Expected in Standings of First Division Clubs of English League as Result of Games to Be Played in Old Country

LONDON, Oct. 7.—An attractive schedule of fixtures is drawn up for the First Division of the English Soccer League for Saturday, and it is not altogether unlikely that the complexion of the division will undergo some alteration when the results are posted. Already the first string has seen six teams take the leadership, the last to be crowned being Sunderland, who administered one of the heaviest defeats of the season to Burnley yesterday. The predecessors of Sunderland have been Tottenham Hotspur, Sheffield United, Burnley, Leicester City and Birmingham.

One of the most interesting games on the schedule is slated for Leicester, where the city receives a visit from the leaders. Leicester ran into their first defeat of the season last Saturday, when they succumbed to Huddersfield town. Sunderland have gone down twice on visiting territory. Another good game will be witnessed at Whitehart Lane, where the Spurs play host to the runners-up, Birmingham.

Out of Form
Whether Burnley will take occasion of Arsenal's visit the day after tomorrow to restore their prestige remains to be seen. Arsenal have not displayed anything like the form that made them such strong contenders for the honors last season, and they have enjoyed only one victory since September 1.

Huddersfield Town, who gave some indication last week of justifying their honor as league champions, will be given an opportunity to forge further ahead when they travel to Everton. Other fixtures are: Derby at Aston Villa, Manchester United at Bolton, Sheffield at Cardiff, Blackburn at Leeds, Liverpool at Newcastle, West Bromwich at the Wednesday and Bury at West Ham.

Next Tuesday the return game between Sunderland and Burnley will be staged at Burnley.

RELATES WORK OF PUBLICITY BODY

MR. GEORGE L. WARREN SAYS ALL CIVIC GRANT IS USED IN ADVERTISING CITY

Bureau Has Distributed 290,000 Publicity Folders This Year—Auction News Sum for Notarium

A brief review of the activities of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was given at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday by Mr. George L. Warren, publicity commissioner. Mr. Warren said that objection had been raised by some taxpayers to the grant which the city gave the Publicity Bureau on the claim that it was a waste of money. The speaker pointed out that the salaries, travelling expenses, rent and janitor's charges were paid independently of the grant from the city. All of the money contributed by the city was used in advertising, and the sum of $13,000 had been spent this year in that manner.

The Publicity Bureau strove to bring settlers and industries here, and advertised the residential and commercial advantages of Victoria and the Island in many places and in many ways. Mr. Warren asserted. The bureau had been advertising in papers in California and on the Prairies, and had representatives in a number of Coast cities this summer. Addresses on Victoria's opportunities had been given in various centres, while talks over the radio had also acquainted thousands of the charms of this city.

The speaker stated that thus far this year 290,000 publicity folders had been issued and distributed by the bureau, that 16,544 persons had made personal inquiries at the office in the Belmont House, and 3,679 phone calls had been received there. The bureau had solicited conventions and photographs and information of the Victoria had been sent to the secretaries of such bodies. A member of the bureau staff had written 197 articles on Victoria, and these had been published in various magazines.

Mr. Warren stated that the Canadian Customs officials and the Publicity Bureau had co-operated, and that this year the Customs at Sidney and Victoria had handled 15,627 cars, which had carried a total of nearly 50,000 passengers.

Much merriment was created by a potlatch auction, which was directed by Mr. Percy Watson. Three articles, a box of apples, a bottle of bath salts and a sack of cement, were auctioned off, with Mr. Stewart Williams officiating as auctioneer. Through the auction the sum of $19.55 was raised for the Solarium fund.

Rotary's Mahatma Fountain
President Tomlin spoke of the need of certain repairs being effected at the Rotary Drinking Fountain at Mill Bay, and a report on this matter will be made shortly to the club of the Rotary Fountain Committee, of which Mr. Dan Evans is the chairman. Praise for the splendid work of the Rotary Club orchestra was voiced on the club's behalf by Mr. Percy Abell, prolonged applause greeting his remarks. Suitable acknowledgment was made by Mr. James M. Miller, leader of the musicians.

Mr. Jack Land, chairman of the attendance committee, announced that it was hoped that next Thursday's luncheon would be a 100 per cent meeting, with every member of the club in attendance.

GEOLOGISTS WORK ON BAFFIN ISLAND

Graphite, Mica and Coal Deposits Are Being Surveyed—Area of 211,000 Square Miles

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Baffin Island, which lies immediately to the north of the route to Hudson Bay, is at present a field of investigation by the geological survey of Canada.

Dr. L. J. Weeks and an assistant were landed during the summer on this island from the Canadian Government boat making its annual trip to the established posts in the Arctic. They will remain during the winter and carry on a geological survey of the southern part of the island.

Baffin Island is the largest and probably the most important of the Arctic islands. It has an area of 211,000 square miles. Observations made along the part of the coast that has been explored show that it is underlain by rocks of pre-Cambrian and Paleozoic age, and to less extent probably by tertiary sediments.

A small tonnage of graphite and mica has been shipped from the southern part of the island, and at Ponds Inlet, in the northern part, a small quantity of coal is mined.

The coal, according to Dr. Weeks, who visited the place in 1924, is well exposed in a cliff on Salmon River. The predominant rock types are horizontal, grey, cross-bedded sandstone and conglomerates. They have been regarded as of tertiary age. Two main seams each three and one-half feet thick and eighteen feet apart are found.

It is the coal from the lower seam that is being utilized by the Hudson's Bay Company. When freshly dug it breaks into irregular lumps that are dull black with here and there a bright surface and that show nothing resembling a cleavage plane. After being sacked and left some months in the open it shows a tendency to crumble. The crumbling is not so great as in the coal from the upper seam. An air dried sample gave an analysis: Moisture, 14.2 per cent; ash, 8.0 per cent; volatile, 23.4 per cent; fixed carbon, 57.4 per cent; calorific value, 10,300 British thermal units.

Quantities of coal have also been obtained from a point a mile downstream from the exposure examined.

Sir Alan Cobham Has Adventure at Hinkley

HINKLEY, England, Oct. 7.—Sir Alan Cobham, noted English aviator, who recently was knighted after his triumphant flight from England to Australia and return, narrowly escaped death in a little Moth plane today. The aviator was making a forced landing when he barely missed high-tension electric wires carrying 6,000 volts.

Engine trouble developed while he was en route from London to Manchester, and he was forced to descend in a field near here. He was accompanied by J. Matthews. Later they flew safely to Manchester. This was Sir Alan's first flight since his return from Australia.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Unanimous decision was reached by a joint municipal committee today to recommend acceptance of the proposal of Harrington, Howard & Ash, a Keweenaw City bridge-building firm, for erection of the Lions Gate Bridge, at the entrance to Vancouver harbor.

With this firm of bridge engineers is associated the local contracting firm of Armstrong, Morrison & Company, Limited.

A battle royal for the bridge franchise will now be fought out at Ottawa, as Mr. J. L. Campbell, local solicitor for the rival engineering firm, Dwight, Robinson & Company, has stated he will seek the franchise, regardless of the decision.

The Ottawa authorities have intimated that no bridge scheme will be accepted which is not satisfactory to the local representatives, however.

The city and all North Shore municipalities were represented at today's meeting.

$3,000,000 Bridge

The Harrington, Howard & Ash bridge will be about one mile long, with a main span 1,200 feet long between towers. The maximum clearance at high water will be 185 feet and the minimum 150 feet. There will be a second span to the north of the main channel. This will be 400 feet wide. This span will have a maximum clearance of 150 feet and a minimum height of 125 feet. The bridge roadway will be twenty-four feet wide, with two sidewalks of five feet each—if the resolution clause is complied with. The bridge deck will be concrete. The bridge will cost approximately $3,000,000, and construction will require about three years.

Buff Telephone Book Will Yield Place to Blue in Coming Issue

PICKING up a state telephone directory for Vancouver Island, with possible resultant annoyance, is to be remedied here.

The B.C. Telephone Company announces that when the new telephone directory reaches the public, for the December issue, it will have a blue cover. It is the intention to alternate the colors, buff in June issues, and blue in December.

The blue-covered Lower Mainland directory, just brought into use, has a rather attractive appearance. All listings for changes in the new Island directory must be filed with the B.C. Telephone Company by Monday next.

Tibetans Think Men Lived 10,000 Years

Tibetans, especially the older ones, still cling to a belief that man is descended from a demoness, Dracimmo, and a monkey. Long ago, according to the sacred books, men lived 10,000 years.

Each generation, as it grows more sinful, has a shorter life, and there will come a time, the books predict, when human beings will marry at five and die at ten.

There is another Tibetan belief, relates G. A. Combe, in his book, "A Tibetan on Tibet," that child is born with a memory of former existence. With each new lesson learned, the memory grows dimmer. At twelve months he learns to stand upright and walk, forgetting more, and every time he falls he loses memories. When he learns to walk all his memories vanish.

"I resort to wine to stimulate my wits," said a young spendthrift to an old one.

"Ah," replied the veteran, "that is how I began, but now I have to resort to my wits to get my wine."

FAMOUS PATRONIZE TINY CHICAGO GRILL

Hidden Beneath Cornices of Skyscrapers, English Eating-House Has Made Reputation

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Hidden beneath the cornices of towering buildings which flank it, a little grillroom deep in the business district, unknown to most of the thousands who pass it daily, has won wide repute as one of the notable eating places of either hemisphere.

It is St. Hubert's English Grill, and its staunch oaken tables have been spread to many a son of the Crown sojourning in mid-America.

From its ceilings hang 200 English pipes, through whose clay stems the smoke of rare tobaccos has been drawn by adventurers from around the world. Charles Dickens, son of the novelist, found it a most unusual rough-hewn granite walls, and Sir

Henry Irving and Sir Thomas Lipton have come through its broad oak door to find what they declared to be a genuine English mutton chop. A Chicago clubman, Willard Gentlemen, long since deceased, founded the grill in token to a fancy for English foods. Finished in English style, it is adorned with tapestries, prints, oils and tableware of rare origin. The pipes were collected at the behest of Capt. Robert Forhan, English short story writer. Under his sponsorship the Adventurers' Club, a group of globe trotters, gathered at the grill to trade tales of the seven seas, with many a noted traveler as their guest.

France Swellers

PARIS, Oct. 7.—France is swelling under an unreasonable heat wave which threatens disaster to the farmers. The situation is aggravated by the fact that there has been no rain for three months and none in sight. Chestnut, apple and pear trees and vines are in bloom for the second time this year.

Crystal Garden—Dancing and swimming.

COLISEUM In "Mary's Ankle," at the Coliseum this week, three young adventurers, desirous of procuring funds, decide that one of the number should, supposedly, get married, the idea being to issue wedding invitations and wedding gifts would immediately follow. A careful choice is made of the name and address of the "bride to be." Judge, then, the surprise of the young adventurers when a lady will not only the identical name but also the address of their choice, unexpectedly turns up.

CAPITOL Two men, one the most THEATRE dangerous swordsman in all of Europe, thrusting and parrying in the light of an early dawn! A swift motor car, rushing through the rising mists toward the field of honor, a girl huddled in the back, frenzied with thoughts of disaster. And at last the car stopped, and toward her, over the slippery ground, came one of them—stained blade in his hand! "Don Juan's Three Nights," now showing at the Capitol Theatre, is a swift, kaleidoscopic unfolding of a modern story of fast society along the Italian Riviera.

DOMINION All credit for the photographic beauty of "Nell Gwyn," Paramount's latest film, is due Dorothy Gish, should be given Mr. Roy Overbaugh, a camera artist who is perhaps best remembered for the masterful photography of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Mr. Overbaugh's motion picture career started in 1910. Since then, among others, he has "turned the crank" on "Rampage," "The White Sister" and "Classmates." "Nell Gwyn," his latest piece of handiwork, which was produced in London, is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

COLUMBIA "Tony Runs Wild," THEATRE Fox Films latest production starring Tom Mix and "Tony," his marvel of equine intelligence, which is now at the Columbia Theatre, has more than its fair share of Mix thrills. The first of these thrills comes in the earlier scenes, when Mix, mounted on "Pronto," one of his famous stable of famous horses, rides down a highway between walls of a narrow canyon, and saves Jacqueline Logan, the beautiful heroine of the picture, from a band of wild horses.

PLAYHOUSE Harriet Sterling, who played the queen in the original production of "The Girl of the Golden West," plays a similar role in Robert Kane's new picture, "The Wilderness Woman," now at the Playhouse. The moccasins which Miss Sterling wore in the famous old play were brought from the bottom of her trunk to adorn her feet in the Kane picture.

Mr. Roberts, after revisiting the scenes of his strenuous youth, will write a book of reminiscences dealing with life, then and now, in British Columbia. The photograph was taken in the Ptarmigan Valley, where the annual Pow-wow of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies was held recently.

Twentieth Century Queen of Song Is Galli-Curci Title

To reign as the Twentieth Century Queen of Song was the destiny of Amelita Galli-Curci, exactly as it was the destiny of Adelina Patti in the century preceding. Between the careers of these two supreme divas there is one point of difference, the conquests of Galli-Curci in two hemispheres have been more extensive than were even Patti's. Since last Madame Galli-Curci, who will sing at the Royal Victoria Theatre on October 27, at 8:30 p.m., toured this country in concert, a year ago, the people of four other lands, the British Isles, Ireland, Australia and New Zealand have been swept to enthusiasm by her glorious voice. The press of those lands have unanimously declared her to have broken all established records there, both in the vastness of her audience and the immensity of their demonstration.

For Madame Galli-Curci's first London concert on October 12, 1924, every ticket was sold nine months prior to the event; in cities in the British Isles concerts were frequently sold out before they were advertised; in Australia as many as nine concerts, only a day apart, were given in a single city where, at her farewells, the diva was kept on the stage as long as two hours after her printed programme was ended.

There is, doubtless, not a soul in all our country who has not heard of the sensation which broke all records at Galli-Curci's debut in the United States, and how a vast audience in attendance at the Chicago Auditorium proclaimed her the greatest voice of the age. All know, too, how New York has acclaimed her season after season in concert, and that her audiences at the Metropolitan Opera House, as during her years of engagements at the Chicago Auditorium, are the record audiences of each season. And it is as universally established a

REVIVAL OF IBANEZ FILM IS PROTESTED

Germans Angry at Reshowing of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" in America

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The New York revival of the Metro-Goldwyn picture, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," in memory of Rudolph Valentino, its star, has aroused a storm of protest here, and threatens to strengthen the German producers' campaign against American screen productions. Even so democratic an organ as the Vossische Zeitung urges the German Government to make representations to Washington against the portrayal of the "worst of all anti-German propaganda films, in which every German character is a mixture of cruelty, treachery and villainy."

This paper's editorial says that in the days when it was the fashion to depict Mexicans and Japanese as villains in American movies, Mexico and Japan successfully protested against this practice, and it adds: "Once before, in the case of 'Mare Nostrum,' we were obliged to com-

Ex Toe comes in Holoproof's rich, lustrous silk and other fine materials, too. All are extremely smart.

Now a new series of colors are being introduced. In New York and London they have become immensely popular.

Because the milk is so rich and creamy and so perfectly blended with the sugar it contains, Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk wonderfully improves all kinds of recipes that call for milk and sugar. You get results you cannot possibly achieve when you mix the sugar and milk yourself, smoothness, a rich, subtle flavor that makes the dish a success. It is economical, too, being doubly rich milk (because part of the water content is removed) and very convenient and dependable. You can always keep a generous supply on hand.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK (Sweetened)

Try these tested recipes. They will please you greatly.

SALAD DRESSING (Uncooked)

2 eggs beaten until light
1 teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful mustard
1 can Borden's Eagle Brand Milk
1 cupful vinegar

Beat the first four ingredients vigorously for a few minutes, add the vinegar, stir well and set aside for a few hours to thicken. Will keep for weeks.

COCONUT MACAROONS

Melt 2 squares of chocolate and mix well with 1 can of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. Add 1/2 pound of desiccated coconut, mix thoroughly, and add 1 teaspoonful vanilla. Drop on greased pan 1 teaspoonful at a time, about an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned. This makes 30 macaroons. Omit chocolate for plain macaroons.

GRAHAM MUFFINS

1 egg
1/2 cup Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk
1/2 cup water
1 cup graham flour
1 cup white flour

In the stomach of an Irish-born pig, slaughtered at Rotherham, York, was found a small leather purse, containing six gold sovereigns.

"Beau Geste"

A Great Mystery Story

By PERCIVAL CHRISTOPHER WREN

The entire company at the lonely fort at Tindouf is found dead by a vengeful party. The commandant has a French bayonet in his hand, a hand which is the death of the "Blue Water," a valuable sapphire. It is signed "Michael Digne." The young officer's body, found, is the first of a series of deaths. The mystery of the "Blue Water" is the French Foreign Legion, sent to Tindouf to guard the solution of the mystery from Lady Brandon, owner of the Blue Water and aunt of "Beau" or Michael. The scene is set in the French Sahara, where we see the three main boys, John, Digby and Michael, in their boyhood. They are very fond of adventure. The "Blue Water" is a prized family possession.

The Disappearance of the Blue Water

And then, one Autumn evening, the face of life changed as utterly and suddenly as unexpectedly. The act of one person altered the lives of all of us, and brought suffering, exile and death in its train.

I am neither a student nor a philosopher, but I would like some convinced exponent of the doctrine of Free Will to explain how we are anything but the helpless victims of the consequences of the acts of other people. How I envy the great and lofty of those great minds that can easily recognize "unto the third and fourth generation," for example, with this comfortable doctrine.

On this fine Autumn evening, so ordinary, so care-free and comfortable, so peaceful and momentous, we sat in the great drawing-room of Branton Abbas, after dinner, all together for what proved to be the last time. There were present Aunt Patricia, the Chaplain, Claudia, Isobel, Michael, Digby, Augustus Brandon and myself. Aunt Patricia asked Claudia to sing, and the young lady, standing herself on the score of being out of sorts and not feeling like it. She certainly looked pale and somewhat hollower her usual sparkling standard of health and spirits. I had thought for some days that she had seemed preoccupied and worried, and I had wondered if her bridegroom, the "dreamers' bill" were the cause of it.

With her wonted desire to be helpful and obliging, Isobel went to the piano, and for some time we sat listening to her sweet and sympathetic voice, while my aunt knitted, the Chaplain twiddled his thumbs, Claudia wrestled with some unpleasant problem in frowning abstraction, Augustus shuffled and tapped his cigarette case with a cigarette that never lit. Digby turned over the leaves of a magazine, and Michael watched Claudia.

Presently Isobel rose and closed the piano.

"What about a game of pilla?" said Augustus, and before anyone replied, Claudia said:

"Oh, Aunt, do let's have the 'Blue Water' down for a little while. I haven't seen it for ages."

"Rather!" agreed Michael. "Let's do a ghost, Aunt," and the Chaplain supported him and said he'd be delighted to get it. If Lady Brandon would give permission.

Only he and Aunt Patricia knew the secret of the Priests' Hole (excepting Sir Hector, of course), and I believe it would have taken an extraordinarily ingenious burglar to have discovered it, even given unlimited opportunity, before tackling the safe in which the "Blue Water" was hidden. The "Blue Water" was a small, ornate, iron safe, and I had spent countless hours, with the knowledge and consent of my aunt, in trying to find, without the slightest success, the trick of this hiding place of more than one hunted divine. It became an obsession with Michael.

Aunt Patricia agreed at once, and the Chaplain disappeared. He had a key which gave access to the hiding place of the keys of the safe which the Priests' Hole guarded.

"What is the 'Blue Water' worth, Aunt Patricia?" asked Claudia.

"To whom, dear?" was the reply.

"Well—what would a Hatton Garden person give for it?"

"About a half what he thought his principal would be willing to offer, perhaps."

"And what would that be, about, do you suppose?"

"I don't know, Claudia. If some American millionaire were very anxious to buy it, I suppose he'd try to find out the lowest sum that would be considered," was the reply.

"What would you ask, supposing you were going to sell it?" persisted Claudia.

"I certainly am not going to sell it," said Aunt Patricia, in a voice that should have closed the conversation. She had that day received a letter from her husband announcing his early return from India, and it had not cheered her at all.

"I did hear someone say once that Uncle Hector was offered thirty thousand pounds for it," said Augustus.

"Did you?" replied Aunt Patricia, and at that moment the Chaplain returned, carrying the sapphire on its white velvet cushion, under its glass dome. He placed it on a table under the big hanging chandelier, with its countless cut-glass pendants and circle of electric bulbs.

There it lay, its incredible, ineffable, glowing blue fascinating us as we gazed upon it.

"It is a wonderful thing," said Isobel, and I wondered how often those very words had been said of it.

"Oh, let me kiss it," cried Claudia, and with one hand the Chaplain raised the glass dome, and with the other handed the sapphire to Aunt Patricia, who examined it as though she had not handled it a thousand times. She looked through it at the light. She then passed it to Claudia, who fondled it awhile.

We all took it in turn, Augustus throwing it up and catching it as he murmured, "Thirty thousand pounds for a bit of glass!"

When Michael got it, I thought he was never going to pass it on. He weighed and rubbed and examined it more in the manner of a dealer than an admirer of the beautiful.

Finally, the Chaplain put it back on its cushion and replaced the glass cover.

We sat and stood around for a few minutes, while the Chaplain said something about Indian Rajahs and their marvelous hereditary and historical jewels.

I was standing close to the table, bending over and peering into the depths of the sapphire again: Augustus was retreating, "Who says a game of pilla, pilla, pilla?" when suddenly, as occasionally happened, the electric light failed and we were plunged in complete darkness.

"What's Ferguson up to now?" said Digby, alluding to the head chauffeur, who was responsible for the engine. "It'll come on again in a minute."

said Aunt Patricia, and added, "Burdon will bring candles if it doesn't. Don't wander about, anybody, and knock things over."

Somebody brushed lightly against me as I stood by the table.

"Ghosts and goblins!" said Isobel in a sepulchral voice. "Who's got a match? A skeleton hand is about to clutch my throat. I can see..."

"Everybody," I remarked, as the light came on again, and we blinked at each other in the dazzling glare, so suddenly succeeding the velvet darkness.

"Saved!" said Isobel, with an exaggerated sigh of relief, and then, as I looked at her, she stared wide-eyed and open-mouthed, and then pointed speechless.

The "Blue Water" had vanished. The white velvet cushion was bare, and the glass cover covered nothing but the cushion.

We must have looked a foolish band as we stood and stared, the second or two, at that extraordinarily empty-looking abode of the great sapphire. I never saw anything look so empty in my life. Aunt Patricia broke the silence and the spell.

"Your joke, Augustus?" she inquired, in that rarely-used tone of hers that would have made an elephant feel small.

"Eh! Me? No, Aunt! Really! I swear! I never touched it," declared the youth, coloring warmly.

"Well, there's someone with a sense of humor all his own," she observed, and I was glad that I was not the misguided humorist. Also I was glad that she had regarded the joke as more probably Augustan than otherwise.

"You were standing by the table, John," she continued, turning to me. "Are you the jester?"

"No, Aunt," I replied with feeble wit, "only the Geste."

As Digby and Michael both flatly denied any part in this poor practical joke, Aunt Patricia turned to the girls.

"Surely not?" she said, raising her fine eyebrows.

"No, Aunt," I was too busy with thoughts and goblins and the skeleton hand, to use my own hand for sticking and peeling—I mean picking and stealing," said Isobel.

"I haven't got it," said Claudia.

Lady Brandon and the Reverend Maurice Piliot eyed the six of us with cold severity.

"Let us say nothing of the good taste displayed, either in the act or in the denial," said the former, "but agree that the brilliant joke has been carried far enough, shall we?"

"Put the brilliant joke back, John," said Augustus, "it was the only one near it when the light went out."

"I have said that I didn't touch the sapphire," I replied.

"Suppose you put it back, Geste," said Digby, and his voice had an edge on it.

"And suppose you do!" blustered Augustus angrily.

Digby, who was standing behind him, suddenly raised his right knee with sufficient force to propel the speaker in the direction of the table, and exhibition of ill manners and violence that passed unrebuked by Aunt Patricia.

"I haven't got the beastly thing, I tell you," shouted the scowling, turning ferociously upon Digby. "It's one of you three rotters."

It was an absurd situation, rapidly degenerating into a row, and I was glad that my aunt's lips were growing thinner, and her eyebrows beginning to contract toward her high-bridged nose.

"Look here, sillies!" said Isobel, as we brothers glared at Augustus and he glared at us. "I am going to turn all the lights out again for two minutes. Whoever played the trick, and told the fib, is to put the 'Blue Water' back. Then no one will know who did it. See?"

"Oh, rot!" said Augustus, and out went the lights. Before Aunt Patricia or the Chaplain made any comment, New's occurred to me that it would be very interesting to know who had played this silly practical joke and told a silly lie as well.

I therefore promptly stepped towards the table, felt the edge of it with my right hand and then, with a couple of tentative dabs, laid my left hand on top of the glass dome. Whoever came to return the sapphire must touch me, and him I would promptly seize. I might not have felt so interested in the matter had it not been twice pointed out that it was I who stood against the table when the light failed.

Isobel's device for securing the prompt return of the sapphire was an excellent one, but I saw no reason why I should linger under the suspicion of having been on one and a half, for the benefit of Augustus.

So there I stood and waited. While doing so, it occurred to me to wonder what would happen if the joker did not have the good sense to take advantage of the opportunity provided by Isobel.

Perfect silence reigned in the big room.

"I can't do it, my boots creak," said Digby suddenly.

"I can't find the cover," said Michael.

"Another minute, villain," said Isobel. "Hurry up."

And then I was conscious that someone was breathing very near me. I felt a faint touch on my elbow. A hand came down lightly against my wrist—and I grabbed.

My left hand was round a coat-sleeve, beneath which was the stiff cuff of a dress shirt, and my right grasped a wrist. I was very glad that it was a man's arm. Had it been a girl's I should have let go. Ghastrly Gustus, of course.

It was just the silly sort of thing he would do, and it was just like him to take advantage of the darkness, when he found the joke had fallen remarkably flat. I did not envy him the look that would appear on Aunt Patricia's face when the light went up and he was discovered in my grip.

I would have let him go. I think had he not endeavored to put the blame on me, and insisted on my nearness to the table when the light failed.

I was a little surprised that he did not struggle, and I was prepared for a sudden violent twist and a swift evasion in the dark.

He kept perfectly still.

"I am going to count ten, and then

Why labour on Floors when there's "Poliflor"?

Floors that glow with soft brilliance under the lamp-light—furniture gleaming in its rich radiance. How they add to a room's appearance!

And how easy to keep up, now—with Poliflor!

Whether you polish by hand, or with a weighted brush, or with an electric polisher—it's easier with "Poliflor." Just a touch of wax to the wood—a light "rub-up"—and right away, the wonderful lustre is there—hard and durable, to last for days, and days, resisting the hardest wear.

And "Poliflor" is beneficial to your floors. It is made in England by the manufacturers of the famous "Nugget" Shoe Polish, and it feeds the fibre of wood and linoleum, just as "Nugget" feeds shoe leather. Floors and Furniture are protected and preserved. They're kept germ-free, too, for "Poliflor" possesses marked antiseptic qualities.

Try one tin of "Poliflor" and you will be convinced. All dealers carry it.

up goes the light. Are you ready, villain?" came the voice of Isobel from the door.

"Yes, I've put it back," said Digby. "So have I," said Michael, close to me.

"And I," shouted Claudia. Then Isobel switched on the light, and I found that my hands were clenched tight on the right arm of my brother Michael!

I was more surprised than I can say.

It was only a small matter, of course, a pointless joke and a pointless lie, but it was so utterly unlike Michael. It was unlike him to do it, and more unlike him flatly to deny having done it. And my surprise increased when Michael, looking at me queerly, actually remarked:

"So it was me, John, was it? Oh, Feeble Geste!"

I felt absurdly hurt, and turning to Augustus, said, "I apologise, Geste. I admit I thought it was you."

"Oh, don't add insult to injury," he replied. "Put the beastly thing back, and stop being a funny ass. Enough of you is too much."

Put the beastly thing back. I turned and looked at the cushion. It was empty still. I looked at Michael and Michael looked at me.

"Oh, shove it back, Beau," I said. "It's all been most extraordinarily clever and amusing, I'm sure. But I'm inclined to agree with Geste."

Michael gave me one of his long, thoughtful, penetrating looks. "H'm," said he.

Isobel came over from the door. "I do think you might have played up, sillies," said she. "Put it back, Beau, and let's have a dance. May we, Aunt?"

"Certainly," said Aunt Patricia, "as soon as you've done a humorous in our midst has received our felicitations," and I really pitied the said humorist when he should make his avowal, and hand him as I felt.

The Chaplain looked from face to face of the six of us and said nothing. Aunt Patricia did the same.

We all stood silent.

"Unless the 'Blue Water' is produced at once, I shall be very seriously annoyed," said Augustus.

"Come on, somebody," said Digby. Another minute's silence.

"Now stop this fooling," said Digby. "I am waiting," said Lady Brandon at last, and her foot began to tap.

"What kind of room have you given me? I was in the night and saw two mice fighting in the middle of the floor!"

"Well, what did you expect for your five kroner? A bullfight?"

Vikingsen, Oslo.

From that moment the matter became anything but a joke, swiftly growing unpleasant and increasingly so.

A man watching a very dull play turned to his companion and said: "This is dreadful! I wonder the audience does not hiss."

"You must remember," replied the other, "that it is impossible to hiss and yawn at the same time."

STOCKS COLLAPSE TO LOW FOR YEAR

DUPONT DROPS TWENTY POINTS STAGE — GENERAL MOTORS STAGE TEN BEFORE RALLY
Stock Exchange Member Loans Show Increase of Seventy-Six Million Dollars Last Month

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A further decline in prices took place in today's stock market with the reaction, like that of yesterday, following an early period of strength. Stronger resistance to selling pressure was shown, however, by many issues, although bear traders again succeeded in unseating a number of new weak spots. Total sales again ran well over the two million mark. The increase of more than $74,000,000 in stock exchange member loans last month caused some uneasiness despite the fact that call money rates continued relatively easy and that no change was made yesterday in the Boston Federal reserve bank rate.

United States Steel common and General Motors were again subjected to aggressive selling attacks, and their failure to hold up under the onslaught of bear traders undermined confidence in other issues. Steel was hammered down to 14 1/2, or more than 15 points below the recent high, and then snapped back to 14 1/2, off 1 1/2 points net. While General Motors broke from an early high of 16 1/2 to 15 1/2 and then rallied a point for a net loss of 4 1/2 points on the day. Dupont collapsed from 34 1/2 to 32 1/2, and then rebounded to 33 1/2, off 5 1/2 net.

More than a dozen issues collapsed to new low levels for the year. Ralls received better support as a group, although rather substantial declines were again recorded by Chesapeake & Ohio, Rock Island, Nickel Plate and Texas Pacific.

On the other hand Colorado & Southern were bid up to a new high, and Atlantic Coast Line showed a net gain of 3 points.

Call money 4 1/2 per cent, advanced to 4 3/4. Firm money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Total, $2,587,800 shares. Selected buying of high-grade issues promoted by the outlook for easier money and credit, imparted a firm tone to the bond market today, although the forward movement did not assume broad proportions.

Foreign and U.S. Government obligations gave the best demonstrations of group strength.

Improvement Is Seen in Eastbound Orient Cargo

Shipping Men See Fulfilment of Mr. Robert Dollar's Plans in Merger Between Dollar and Admiral Oriental Lines—Competition Reduced

Shipping men of this city see in the Dollar Line-Admiral Oriental Line merger and the changes proposed in the trans-Pacific service both out of this port and San Francisco, the improvement that Mr. Robert Dollar, dean of Pacific Coast shipping, foresees on his departure from the American Oriental Mail Line was taken over by the Admiral Oriental Line.

Mr. Robert Dollar said at that time that he would make every effort to build up the eastbound freight business and improve the service. The lack of eastbound freight was the drawback to the service, he stated.

Under the new arrangement the four 525-ton liners which operate out of San Francisco to the Orient will call here and at Seattle, and the vessels sailing from Seattle and Victoria will also call at San Francisco, making what has already become known as the "horsehoe service."

The four liners operating out of San Francisco are the President Taft, President Harris, President Wilson and President Van Buren. These four vessels, under the new service, will leave San Francisco, call at Honolulu, proceed thence to Oriental ports and then sail from Yokohama for Victoria and Seattle. On the return trip they will sail direct for Yokohama, make the other Oriental call, proceed to Honolulu and thence to San Francisco.

On the other hand the five ships, now operating direct between Seattle and Victoria and the Orient, after leaving this port will proceed to Yokohama, make the Oriental call, go on to Honolulu, San Francisco, and return to Seattle.

This means that instead of five liners being operated in the north and south trans-Pacific service there will be nine ships, with a total of 189,000 tons, or 21,000 tons each. The schedule will give one sailing every two weeks.

Shipping men see the solving of the eastbound freight question in this change. At the present time, the Dollar Line and Admiral Oriental Line ships are often in the same Oriental port at the same time. The result is that there is not enough freight for the two ships. With the elimination of this overlapping the eastbound freight offerings are expected to fill every ship.

C.P.R. PLACES ORDER WITH FAMOUS FIRM

Yarrow's Water Tube Boilers Will Be Used in New Passenger and Cargo Vessels

The new vessels to be constructed for the Canadian Pacific Railway for the trans-Pacific trade, will all be equipped with Yarrow water tube boilers. The intimation that this construction was planned was confirmed by Sir Alfred Yarrow, director, the head of Messrs. Yarrow & Company, Limited, on his arrival here on Tuesday.

The company has received the order for the complete designs for high pressure Yarrow boilers, and Yarrow superheaters, and air heaters for the two liners. Under license the boilers will be constructed by the vessels' builders.

In the case of the three cargo steamers Messrs. Yarrow will themselves build the boilers, which will be fitted with Yarrow superheaters and air heaters.

SAFETY RECORD MADE BY SOUTHERN TRAIN

San Francisco Overland Limited Completes 45,000,000 Miles Without Serious Passenger Injury

With twenty-seven years of unbroken daily service to its credit, the San Francisco Overland Limited, earliest of the West's great daily limited trains, this month completes its forty-fifth million miles of travel, according to Mr. E. J. Hendry, Canadian general agent, Southern Pacific Lines, Vancouver, B. C.

"An astronomical count distance," Mr. Hendry said, "the 2,256-mile trip from Chicago to San Francisco Bay, compared with the 235,840 miles between mother earth and our nearest neighbor, the moon, is hardly worth consideration; but when a train operating between two cities covers a distance equivalent to 188 trips to the moon, and that without accident resulting in serious injury to a passenger, the record seems worthy of mention."

"Since the first Overland Limited left San Francisco on October 15, 1899, great improvements have been made in equipment and motive power. Commencing November 14, the Overland Limited is to make the run between Chicago and the Pacific Coast in sixty-three hours."

Coast Firms Invited to Tender on Kaikyu Maru

Damage Estimated at $200,000—Yarrows and Victoria Machinery Depot Will Make Bids—Survey of Buenos Aires Proceeds at Drydock Here

Tenders will be invited for repair work of the Kaikyu Maru after she has been drydocked and surveyed. Seattle, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and Victoria yards will be invited to submit bids.

It is conservatively estimated that the damage to the vessel is in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The ship is beached at Binkinsop Bay, where patching the hull is being completed. Officials of the Pacific Salvage Company stated yesterday that they expect to refloat the vessel again next Tuesday, following which she will be towed to Vancouver and drydocked for survey by underwriters and shipyard surveyors.

Both the Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows, Limited, will send one of their men over to Vancouver to make a bid for the contract. Damage to the vessel is of such an extent that it will take approximately three months to complete, and will provide employment for some 150 to 200 men. Victoria firms will make a strong effort to secure this contract.

Buenos Aires News

Survey is still proceeding on the motorship Buenos Aires which was drydocked at Esquimalt, following her grounding on Pender Island. She had a bad leak in number one hold and forepeak tank, and the survey up to yesterday afternoon showed considerable damage about the bow.

There is at least one week's work on the vessel. Yarrows Limited reported yesterday. Several new plates will have to be taken out and re-rolled. A number of the frames have also been bent and will need straightening.

HUNTER DIES ON BLACKJACK MT.

MR. BATTIS GERARD OVER-EXERTS HIMSELF WITH HUNTING PARTY

Police Overaken by Darkness, and Will Try Again Today to Reach Body

NANAIMO, Oct. 7.—Mr. Battis Gerard, forty, pioneer resident of Nanaimo, dropped dead on Blackjack Mountain today while he was with a hunting party. When word reached the city at 12:30 this afternoon, Staff Sergeant Stephenson, of the Provincial force, and other officers started for the mountain, which is about six miles off the highway near Wellington. Darkness prevented the search party from reaching the body, and they returned to town. They will leave at 5 a.m. Friday morning.

According to Mr. Morley and Mr. William Drew, who were members of the hunting expedition, Mr. Gerard apparently over-exerted himself and collapsed.

Mr. Gerard is one of the best known residents of this city. Coming here as a boy, he has been raised in Nanaimo. A prominent athlete, interested in baseball and other lines of sport, he had many friends in the city who will learn of his passing with deepest regret. His widow and three children reside on Victoria Road.
